WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts; also contracts for sidewalks.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Bridge Service).

In view of the representations contained in the following communication, the Mayor has approved a contract made without advertising with W. H. Ellis for widening the old draw channel at Chelsea Bridge at a cost of $1,868.

March 23, 1914.

To the Mayor of Boston:

I respectfully request permission to award the contract for widening the old draw channel at Chelsea Bridge South, without advertising. My reason for wanting to award this contract without advertising is that the steamboat "Peter H. Crowell," 46-foot beam, will be ready to dock on March 30 at Mystic Wharf. In order that she may reach her berth, it will be necessary to do the above widening, which if started to-morrow can be finished by March 29. The width of the channel at the temporary bridge is 48 feet, and the width of the old channel, 38 feet 9 inches. (See attached letter of Crowell & Thurston Steamship Company re the "Peter H. Crowell.")

Bids for this work have been solicited from every company in the city which has the facilities to do this work. These bids are attached. I respectfully request permission to award this contract to W. H. Ellis to do this work, for the sum of $1,868. The engineers' estimate of the cost of the work was $2,100.

Respectfully,

L. K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Boston, March 20, 1914.

MR. FREDERIC H. FAX,
Division Engineer:

DEAR SIR,—Confirming our Mr. Thurlow's conversation with you on the telephone to-day, relative to widening the Chelsea South Drawbridge, known as the Charlestown Bridge, would state that in the conversation with your office about the second of March, that we got the impression that there was to be a width of forty-eight feet in this draw about the 16th of March, and with this information before us, we chartered our steamship "Peter H. Crowell" to load a cargo of ties at Mobile, and from the information we get from the wharfinger at Mystic Wharf, there will be no other berth available for several days.

This will mean a great hardship to us, and as the steamer is due here on the 28th we are desirous of getting a dock to commence discharging March 30.

We trust that some arrangement can be made whereby the piling of the old bridge, as well as the watermain, can be removed, so that our ship can go through the draw, and for your information would state the ship will be drawing 21 feet of water on her arrival here.

Thanking you in advance for your courtesy in this matter, we are

Yours truly,
CROWELL & THURLOW STEAMSHIP COMPANY
by LEWIS K. THURLOW,
Treasurer.

Bids submitted on this work were as follows:

W. H. Ellis, $1,868; Rendle & Stoddard, $2,231; Lawler Brothers, $3,400; Holbrook, Cabot and Rollins, Corporation, $3,500; T. A. Scott, Inc., all work except dredging, $1,390; dredging, $600, $1,990.

PERMISSION TO DO WORK WITH DEPARTMENT FORCE.

The Mayor has granted to the Park and Recreation Commissioners authority to do the following work with the department force, without advertising for competitive bids:

Construct a wooden building for a bath house on McKenzie Beach, South Boston, 125 feet long by 12 feet wide, for the sum of $2,000; and a building of similar character and cost at Tenean Beach, Neponset. In making request the chairman says:

BOSTON, MASS., March 19, 1914.
HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

MY DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request your approval in the matter of expending an appropriation of $2,000 for the construction of a simple frame wooden building for a bath house on McKenzie Beach Strandway, South Boston, one hundred twenty-five feet in length by twelve feet in width, and another for a like sum of $2,000 to construct a similar building for a bath house on Tenean Beach, Neponset, one hundred feet in length by ten feet six inches in width. The former building is to replace the one destroyed during the past winter by a severe storm and the latter to replace one destroyed by fire, the moneys for which are now available.

It is imperative that work on these buildings be started at once, and as the work can be done as advantageously and economically by our own force of employees as by private concerns without the delay occasioned by advertising for bids, I respectfully request that your approval be given.

Very respectfully yours,
JOHN H. DILLON, Chairman,
Park and Recreation Department.

The Mayor has granted to the Commissioner of Public Works authority to do the following work with the department force, without advertising for competitive bids:

Build a sanitary sewer of 12-inch and 10-inch earthen pipe, a surface drain of 12-inch earthen pipe, and two catch-basins and connections in Binney street, between Francis and Peabody streets, Roxbury, the estimated cost for labor and materials being $1,512.

"This work, in my opinion, can be as advantageously done by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

FINANCE COMMISSION.

BOSTON, March 17, 1914.

To His Excellency DAVID I. WALSH,
Governor of Massachusetts:

SIR,—The Finance Commission desires to call to your attention those provisions of House Bill No. 179 which will affect injuriously the financial interests of the City of Boston.

This bill, which has passed both branches of the General Court and is now before you for consideration, makes mandatory the granting of two weeks' vacation with pay to all laborers in the employ of the cities and towns of the Commonwealth, upon the acceptance thereof by the voters of any city or town. Although the bill has a referendum to the voters of the city it is nevertheless an unwarrantable interference on the part of the Legislature in the local government of Boston, as it takes from the properly constituted city officials the power of deciding whether or not such vacation shall be granted. The Corporation Counsel of the city has stated to the Finance Commission that, in his opinion, the city government is already empowered to grant to its laborers such vacations as it deems advisable. The transfer of responsibility in this matter from the city officials to the electorate might result in the imposition of a heavy financial burden upon the city at a time when the city treasury is least able to bear such a burden.

There are now in the city employ approximately 4,000 laborers, who receive a larger per diem wage than the laborers employed by most of the cities and towns in the Commonwealth. Furthermore, it has been the custom for the City of Boston to carry these laborers on its pay roll during the winter months, when there is little or no work to be done. While this practice prevails and the laborers are not laid off during the winter months, the City of Boston should not be forced to incur an additional annual expenditure, estimated by the engineer of the Finance Commission at $175,000, for the purpose of providing vacations for its laborers.

The Finance Commission respectfully requests Your Excellency to assist the city by vetoing the bill, or amending it so as to exempt the City of Boston from its provisions.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,

by JOHN R. MURPHY,

Chairman.

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces open competitive examinations for Inspector of Safety Appliances and Inspector of Hours of Service, for men only, on April 24 and 25, 1914. From the registers of eligibles resulting from these examinations certification will be made to fill vacancies in these positions in the Interstate Commerce Commission at salaries of $1,800 per annum, with necessary allowances for expenses incurred while absent from headquarters in the discharge of official duties, and vacancies as they may occur in positions requiring similar qualifications, unless it is found to be in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement, transfer, or promotion.

It is expected that several appointments will be made to the position of Inspector of Safety Appliances and to the position of Inspector of Hours of Service.

The duties of the Safety Appliance Inspectors will comprise the making of inspections and reports as required by the Safety Appliance Acts; the duties of the Hours of Service Inspectors will be the making of inspections and reports as required by the so-called Hours of Service Act. Both Safety Appliance and Hours of Service Inspectors may be required to investigate accidents as required by section 3 of the Accident Investigation Act of May 6, 1910.

Persons who meet the requirements and desire either of these examinations should at once apply for application form 1933 to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or to the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board, Post Office, Boston, Mass.

INAUGURAL ADDRESSES.

REPRINTS OF ADDRESSES DELIVERED BY THE MAYORS OF BOSTON AT THEIR INAUGURATION FROM THE INCORPORATION OF THE CITY.

William H. Whitmore, formerly City Registrar, and a man who delighted especially in the preservation of historical data relating to the city, started in 1890 a compilation of the inaugural addresses of the mayors of Boston. Up to that time they were available only in odd and scattered municipal documents, kept with indifferent care, or in some instances in privately printed documents.

In 1894 he produced the first volume, which contained the addresses from Phillips to Bigelow. In 1896 he published a second volume, with the addresses from Chapman to Norcross. The two volumes make not only substantial but interesting reading for all citizens. Because of the fact that the volumes in question are out of print, it is proposed to reprint the addresses in occasional installments in the City Record.

No. 28.

Mayor Quincy delivered the following inaugural address to the City Council on January 5, 1846:

Gentlemen:

In obedience to the requisition of the charter, which directs the Mayor, from time to time, to communicate to both branches of the City Council, all such information, and recommend all such measures as "may tend to the improvement of the finances, the police, health, security, cleanliness, comfort, and ornament of the city"—and, in accordance with the custom of my predecessors, I would invite your attention to the present wants and future prospects of the great corporation, over which the kindness of our fellow citizens has called us to preside.

To the individual placed in my position, there is no event of the past year that calls more imperatively to the active performance of duty than the fact that for the first time since our organization the chief magistrate of the city has been withdrawn by death. This is not a place to eulogize my predecessor. All allow that in his public relations he, according to his oath of office, discharged every duty "to the best of his ability." While the tenor of his private life and the calmness of its close assured his friends of his preparation to be the citizen of a better country, even a heavenly. His illness and death have, in the opinion of counsel, caused some irregularities in the proceedings of the past year. If, on examination, you should be satisfied that this is the case, I should recommend an early application to the Legislature for such a remedial act as shall prevent any inconvenience arising hereafter to those who have had, or may hereafter have, business transactions with the city.

The year that has just closed has been one of great individual prosperity, and the city has shared in the good fortune of its inhabitants. Neither famine nor pestilence has been permitted to visit our borders, and the losses by conflagration have been less than on many preceding years. In a great degree this is owing to the efficient state of the Fire Department, the members of which, by their zeal, activity and good order show that public spirit, more than the small compensation they receive, is their incentive to duty.

The crowded state of our narrow thoroughfares renders the increase of our city evident to the most casual observer. The difficulty is to provide a remedy for the inconvenience that necessarily results from their want of width. In the present state of the law, the expense attendant on widening the streets offers a serious obstacle to improvement. In other cities part of the expense is borne by the individual, or by those in the neighborhood, whose estates are rendered more valuable. Here, it often happens that the highest market price is paid for a strip of land, when the remainder is rendered far more valuable than the whole of it was before; and where, were he not certain that the city must pay for it, the owner would have been most happy to have given it for nothing, or would have been fully compensated by having his neighbors' estates placed upon the same line with his own.

At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen, it was resolved, that it was expedient that application be made to the Legislature for a modification of the laws regulating the laying out of highways, so far as applies to this city, so that the estates in the neighborhood of improvements that are directly benefited, may be obliged to contribute towards the expense "a sum not exceeding two-thirds of the whole amount." Such an alteration in the law should not be made without great deliberation. If it should be passed, it would relieve the city from a large expense; it would insure the completion of improvements that without it cannot be attempted; and would, in a great majority of cases, promote the interests of the individuals who were effected by its operation, by giving an increased value to their estates.

In connection with this subject, I would invite your attention to a revision of the city ordinances, particularly those relating to the Market and to the Police Departments. Since many of these were framed, the population has nearly trebled, and the mode of doing business with the country, owing to the establishment of railways, has entirely changed. The police regulations of a large city must differ from those of a small one. They should in no case restrain individual liberty, except where it is necessary for the greatest good, of the greatest number. But they should be clear and simple; the officer should have a single and defined duty, and be held strictly responsible for its performance. Believing, from the representation of those employed in their execution, that the ordinances, particularly those that relate to the removal of obstructions in the streets and on the sidewalks, are uncertain and insufficient, I would recommend the subject to your earliest attention.

The erection of a new jail has attracted the attention of successive City Councils, and several plans have been prepared by its committees, which either did not meet the views of the government, or were not perfected in time to be carried into execution. There is, I believe, no doubt that a new jail is needed, and that it should be located on the city lands at South Boston. As it regards a plan, some difference of opinion has existed. As there is no subject that has received more attention, either in this country or Europe, than that of prison edifices, and as we have men who have devoted themselves to the study, I would suggest the propriety of employing a commission, as was done in the case of water, to prepare the plans, leaving the execution of the one adopted to the appropriate committees. As the removal of the jail will enable the city to realize a large amount from the sale of the land it now occupies, I cannot doubt that the new building will be a model for imitation, and worthy at least of the other institutions of the city.

The other buildings at South Boston are at present sufficient and well adapted to the purposes for which they are intended, with the exception of the Lunatic Asylum, which imperatively demands an immediate enlargement. About three-quarters of the inmates of the institution are state paupers. By the resolve of the last session, the sum allowed for the maintenance of the greatest part of them is considerably less than the actual cost of their support. As the state upon being satisfied upon this fact, would undoubtedly increase the compensation, I should recommend that application be made for that purpose at the approaching session.

As to the introduction of water into the city, the time of deliberation is past. The time of action has come. A competent and disinterested commission has decided that Long Pond is the source from which this blessing is to be derived, and our fellow citizens have conferred upon the present administration the honor of commencing this important work. As "he gives twice who gives quickly," I would urge an immediate application to the Legislature for the necessary powers, and I doubt not, when the power is granted it will be your endeavor, as it will be mine, to insure to every citizen the enjoyment of the blessing for the longest possible time, by introducing it at the earliest practicable moment.

The great expenditure that this will require renders an examination into the financial state of the city, a topic of peculiar interest. Owing to the wisdom of our predecessors, the city in this, and other respects, stands in a most enviable position.

We may consider it either in relation to the provisions for paying the interest, or providing for the principal.

The whole funded debt of the city amounts to.....	$1,041,200
If to this be added the appropriation for widening Fleet street.....	41,000
The total amount is.....	$1,085,200
The interest to be provided for is.....	54,260
The rents of buildings, for which in part this debt was created, amount to.....	$53,889
Interest on bonds for land sold, 6 per cent on $378,143.....	22,688
Making the income to exceed the interest.....	22,297

The provisions for meeting the debt at maturity are equally satisfactory:

The whole amount of the debt is....	$1,085,200 00
There is cash to the credit of the committee on the reduction of the city debt.....	$120,894 68
Bonds and mortgages for lands sold.....	378,143 79
	499,038 47
Leaving a balance of.....	$586,161 53

The principal part of the debt falls due in 1854.

In 1852, one item of the property for which the debt was created,—the city wharf, with the stores upon it, reverts to the city: its estimated value is.....

or more than sufficient, if sold, to pay the balance.

In undertaking this great work we need have no anxiety concerning the present indebtedness of the city.

What are the means we have of meeting the new one we must incur:

The cost of introducing water in the largest quantity is estimated by the commissioners to be.....	$2,651,643
To say nothing of other property, or of the $50,000 annually appropriated towards the reduction of the debt from the taxes, the city owns 3,000,000 feet of Neck lands, estimated by the superintendent at 40 cents, $1,200,000
1,500,000 feet marsh land, at 25 cents.....	375,000
1,000,000 at the bottom of the Common, at $1.50,	1,500,000
27,000 feet occupied by city stables, at least.....	100,000
Leaving a surplus, independent of the water rents, of.....	3,175,000
	523,357

It will be said that the introduction of water will cost more than the estimates. My own opinion is, that the increase of population and the value that will be given, by the supply of water to these lands, will more than provide for the difference, if any should occur.

With these views, I recommend the introduction of water in the most liberal manner, consistent with true economy.

Among the interests intrusted to the City Government, our system of free schools is the most valued and cherished. It is an institution dear to us as an inheritance from our fathers, dear to us for the benefits it has conferred upon ourselves, dearer for the blessings it will bestow upon our children. In regard to other expenditures, the question has been, what can we afford—in regard to this, what does it need? Expending, as we do, more than two hundred thousand dollars annually in education, we ought, as far as the influences of our public schools are concerned, to produce a race well educated, physically, intellectually, morally—a race amenable to the highest motives and governed by the highest principles. The character of the pupil depends on the character of his instructor. If possible, the teacher should in every respect be the model for the child, and as we pay more liberally than in any other part of the country, and can command the services of the best, we ought to be certain that no private feeling or personal motive should influence the appointment of these sacred agents.

Both the School Committee and the City Council of the last year recommend the appointment of a superintendent of our grammar schools. Such an officer would see that the great amount of money we raise is wisely expended—that our new schoolhouses combine all the modern improvements—would make himself minutely acquainted with the comparative merits of the schools, and see that any improvement made in one should be common to them all. Such an officer would aid all the teachers in aiming at a high standard, both in matters of instruction and of conduct, and check the tendency which tempts those who feel that they are in an honorable and lucrative station to relax the efforts by which it was obtained. Believing that the appointment of such an officer would be a benefit to the public, I would recommend the subject of obtaining the necessary power from the Legislature to your early consideration.

We have thus, gentlemen, considered some of the duties that await us in the year upon which we have entered. But we cannot be faithful to the present without casting our eyes towards the future. A few years ago Boston had no facilities for communicating with the interior. When the West and North began to develop their vast resources, and to become at once the consumers of our manufactures and the producers of our food, our easiest communication with them was through our sister cities. To them our manufactured articles went, to them our merchants resorted; our city was shut out from the advantages of the fertilizing tide that was flowing between the old world and the new, and we were almost stationary while other cities progressed. But the railroad has changed all this, and giving us a new facility for the transaction of our old business, has created and developed new and incalculable resources and given, perhaps, a greater impulse to our city than to any other in the world. Five years ago, Boston had, comparatively, no back country; now, nine hundred miles of New England railroads center here, and as many more, within New England, are in the process of construction. These render Boston emphatically her capital. And I know no prouder position for a city than to be the point that concentrates the energy and wealth of such a body of industrious, intelligent and virtuous freemen,—of Americans, natives of the soil, who promote her prosperity in peace as readily as their fathers defended her in war.

Considered in this light alone, the position of Boston is one of present power, with a certainty of rapid advancement. But her connections already stretch far beyond New England. She is on the high road between Europe and the West; and that vast country has become tributary to her increase. The car that leaves our city this morning may deposit its merchandise in thirty-six hours on the shores of Lake Erie, five hundred miles from the place of its departure—from thence inland seas, navigable for vessels of the largest class, stretch away for hundreds of miles along shores fertile for agriculture or rich in minerals. Canals already connect these lakes with the valley of the Mississippi, and with the navigable waters of her and her tributaries, which, extending twenty thousand miles, communicate with forty thousand miles of shores unrivalled in fertility. But more rapid modes of communication will this year be opened. The railroad from Cincinnati to Sandusky, built by the aid of the citizens of Boston, will bring the Ohio within a journey of three days, enabling the traveler to reach Boston from Cincinnati in twelve hours' less time than he can Baltimore, although the latter place is three hundred miles the nearest.

But these are but a small part of the railways that are to increase the prosperity of Boston. There are already in process of construction roads stretching towards Montreal, Burlington, Ogdensburg—roads branching from Albany will reach Kingston, and extend thence through Canada West, others running from Buffalo to Detroit, on both sides of Lake Erie, will ere long reach the upper sources of the Mississippi—and the child is now born that will see them terminate at the Pacific. The time may come, when the expectation that led Columbus to seek a passage to India from Europe, by proceeding west, will be realized, and when the direct communication between those points may pass through Boston.

Such facilities of intercourse, joined to the character and wealth of our population, render the progress of the city a matter of certainty. Occupying the nearest point to Europe, and connected with the North, the West, and the South, by thousands of miles of internal communication, her increase will surpass the most sanguine anticipations of her friends.

If such are the prospects of our city, how great is the responsibility of those who from time to time are invested with the power of improving and preparing it for the multitudes by whom it will be occupied. We regret that our fathers did not anticipate its progress and lay out thoroughfares and squares that are even now called for by the necessities of the inhabitants. Let us remember that we are the fathers of the generations that will succeed, and that we have not the apology of being ignorant of the probable destiny of our city. The effects of a wise and liberal policy will not be confined to our own limits. Boston "is a city set upon a hill that cannot be hid." Go where you will throughout this continent and you find natives of New England. And you find them among the most active and influential members of their respective communities. These turn towards the capital of their native section, as to a place whose wealth, whose age, and the character of whose citizens, entitle it to the honor and impose on it the duty of setting an example to its younger sisters.

Let us then, gentlemen, enter upon the several duties of our stations with the determination to advance the present and future interests of the City of Boston, by providing the highest standards in intellectual, moral and religious training for her citizens and their children, and by promoting everything that may tend to the physical convenience and comfort of her inhabitants. So shall we contribute to render her delightful for a temporary, and eligible for a permanent abode, and do our part in handing down the blessings we have received to those who shall come after; and, whatever be the temporary popularity or unpopularity of our measures, have the consolation of having faithfully endeavored to promote the permanent good of the city, and feel in this consciousness a satisfaction in comparison with which earthly applause is as but the dust of the balance.

TRAVELING SCHOLARSHIPS FOR WORKMEN.

The Co-Partnership Tenants, Ltd., England, has always made it part of its policy to encourage workmen engaged in the various garden suburbs to take an active interest in the technical side of their work. The company has paid the fees of those who were sufficiently interested to attend classes at technical institutes, while in some of the larger suburbs special classes have been organized, thus saving much time wasted in traveling back and forth to an institute.

Last year the Thornton Traveling Scholarships were established. These are awarded to workmen who have proven especially competent in their own lines of work. The scholarship gives them opportunity to travel and acquaint themselves with the methods and materials used in continental building. This year they were awarded to two carpenters, one from the Ealing and one from the Hampstead Estate, and a plumber from the Liverpool Garden Suburb. They have been sent to Belgium and will there inspect both ancient and modern methods of house construction.—American City.

City of Boston,
Cemetery Department, March 11, 1914.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—Herewith is returned order of City Council dated February 17, 1914, referring to municipal improvements, for which money has been appropriated by loan and otherwise, from February 1, 1910, to February 1, 1914, which are not completed. I beg to advise you that this department has no outstanding loans, where the work has not been completed.

On January 1, 1912, with the acquisition of Hyde Park there was received from that town to the credit of Fairview Cemetery $11,953.28. Under the ruling of the City Auditor this money can only be used for permanent improvements, and up to date there has been expended under this heading $1,080, leaving the balance of $10,873.28. This latter amount under the above ruling will be expended only on permanent improvements, when it is determined that such improvements are absolutely necessary.

Upon inquiry I find that no interest has been received and added to the principal since the above was received from the town of Hyde Park and turned into the City Treasury of Boston.

Yours respectfully,
CHARLES E. PHIPPS,
Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Cemetery Department.

As Police Commissioner I have merely given information and advice as to sites and plans and construction.

STREET LIGHTING CONTRACT.

Coun. COULTHURST offered the following: Whereas, The City Council shares with his Honor the Mayor the responsibility under the charter of making contracts for street lighting and

Whereas, There is now under consideration a modification of the terms of an existing contract between the city and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for arc-light illumination of the streets;

Be it Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor, before entering into a new contract with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, be requested to examine the operation of municipal lighting plants in the cities of Chicago, Illinois and Detroit, Michigan, with a view to comparing the cost of operation there and the expense here under a private contract, and with a further object in view of establishing a municipal plant here unless just and satisfactory terms for the future can be made.

In this connection attention is called to the alarming discrepancy between the price paid by the City of Boston to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company under its existing contract and the cost to the city of Detroit under its municipally owned lighting system.

In Boston the present price is about $93 per year for a Gilbert arc light and about $103 per year for a Magnetite lamp.

In Detroit (see Eighteenth Annual Report of Public Lighting Commission of the City of Detroit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913), the cash cost per arc light for such fiscal year was $25.49 for a 2,000-candle power arc light. To this cash cost per arc light, in order to make a fair comparison between Boston and Detroit, there should be added items of "Depreciation," "Lost Interest on the Investment," and "Lost Taxes." This was not done in the above mentioned report, but in said Commission's Report for the year ending June 30, 1907, such an estimate was included as follows:

Operating disbursements, cash cost per arc light.....	$33 25
Depreciation on discarded arc lamps, etc.,.....	1 45
Depreciation at 33 per cent on investment,.....	7 31
Interest at 4 per cent on investment.....	8 35
Lost taxes on investment.....	2 51

Total..... $52 87

It should be noted that between the years 1907 and 1913 there was a remarkable decrease in the cash cost per arc light of $7.76, so that the total cost per arc light for the fiscal year 1913 could not have been much in excess of $45, as compared with the Boston prices as aforesaid of $93 and $103.

It is true, of course, that there are conditions in Boston which enter into the cost of furnishing electric lights that may not exist in Detroit, such as, for example, the difference in the price of coal, underground wire expense, etc.

On the other hand it must be borne in mind that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company furnishes power and light to private consumers from the same plant and through the same conduits and wires that they furnish lighting for city streets,—while in Detroit the municipal lighting plant is merely used for municipal purposes.

There can be nothing, however, to justify the prices that are charged the City of Boston by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company under its present contract, which was hurriedly entered into during the administration of the late Mayor Hibbard, despite the protests of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

In view of the foregoing, it is suggested that a new contract with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company should be based upon a price not in excess of $65 per Magnetite lamp per year. The difference between $45,—the Detroit cost,—and $65 would certainly allow for any difference of conditions in Detroit and Boston.

Coun. COULTHURST—Mr. Chairman, I have introduced here a resolution in a rather unusual form, inasmuch as there is an argument attached. When I have finished my brief remarks, I shall ask to have the matter referred to the Executive Committee for consideration. The City of Boston has been peculiarly unfortunate in its relations with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company and its predecessor, the Boston Electric Light Company, covering a period since the year 1898; and that has been largely due to the fact that the various contracts that have been entered into between the city and these companies have been entered into quietly, without publicity, and hurriedly in some cases. Personally, having some responsibility in the matter, I do not propose to see such a contract entered into hurriedly this year without publicity, and I am satisfied that if full publicity is given to this matter and if the public authorities realize fully the situation, certainly as I see it, we will for the first time in the history of the relations of this company with the City of Boston get a fair and reasonable contract. It is difficult to get data for comparison between electric lighting contracts for the City of Boston and for other portions of the country, because such information is not widely published and is hard to get hold of. But we have in the Detroit plant a municipally owned electric lighting system, a plant that was established eighteen or nineteen years ago, and that has published full data of costs and expense to the city, including capital cost and operation, during this period of eighteen or nineteen years. I have here the last annual report of the Electric Light Commission of the city of Detroit, which certainly illuminates this matter of illumination. It was in 1898 that the City of Boston first entered into a contract for its street lighting, and at that time the rate was placed at about $130 a year. In 1909, when the latest street lighting contract was entered into, the rate had only been reduced from $130 a year to $118 a year for Gilbert nominal 2,000 candle power light. A little publicity was then cast upon the situation owing to investigations by the Chamber of Commerce, and that little publicity was the immediate cause of the Edison Company showing its willingness to reduce its rate from $118 for the Gilbert arc to $93. As the members of this Council will remember, that contract was entered into despite the protests of the Chamber of Commerce, and I am satisfied that if a little more time had been taken in considering the matter we would have gotten a better contract. I have therefore, Mr. President, before the Mayor and Commissioner Rourke have at all bound the city by a contract to be subsequently submitted to us for our approval, introduced this resolution, and I trust that the result of the introduction will be that a complete investigation will be made. I am satisfied that if that is done the City of Boston will save itself hundreds of thousands of dollars in the next five years.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. Chairman, I desire to take the same advantage that the preceding speaker has taken at this time, before the matter is referred to the Executive Committee, to say a few words. I agree with him heartily. I think there is not a bit of doubt in the mind of the average man acquainted with the situation that the City of Boston and neighboring towns in the Metropolitan District, because of the monopoly that now exists in this state, controlled by the Edison Company, have been mulcted beyond question. I want to state, for the benefit of members of this body, that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company now has and has had for years a monopoly of the street lighting of the City of Boston. Twelve or fifteen years ago, or perhaps a little longer, twenty years ago, it was possible to have had a municipal lighting plant for Boston, both gas and electric lighting. To-day we have passed that point. In my opinion it has gone beyond recall. If the Edison Company had restricted its business to the boundaries of the City of Boston, perhaps we might even now have a municipal lighting plant, although it would be a very expensive proposition, made so by special laws passed by the Legislature. The city might, however, perhaps have controlled the lighting situation and might have a municipal plant. But to-day, with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company physically connected with cities and towns outside of Boston in the metropolitan district, it is absolutely out of the question to purchase the present plant. I have made some study of the lighting proposition. How many members of this Board know that, if it were not for certain acts placed on the books by the Boston Elevated Railway Company and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company jointly, and certain financial interests, it would be possible and probable that the Boston Elevated Railway, by enlarging its plant where it generates electricity to run the trains, could light every single house and street lamp on the route of the Elevated railway, for about 60 or 70 per cent cheaper than the price at present being charged the inhabitants of this city for light? But that cannot be done. The Boston Elevated Railway cannot enter into the lighting business, excepting in so far as its own particular plant and stations are concerned. You do not see them buying their juice from the Edison Company. No, they are going to buy it and use it where they can get it cheapest—from themselves. But that joint arrangement prevents the City of Boston taking advantage of the opportunity it might have to light its streets and the buildings on the streets on which the cars run, surface and elevated, at a very small rate. You could get your electricity at one-half what you pay for gas, possibly. But that is aside from the argument or the matter before us. Let me call the attention of the members to this fact, a concrete illustration that cannot be contradicted. The Sheriff of Suffolk County and his predecessor have purchased electricity from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company at almost the same price that a small user pays, and never could get a reduction or a fair contract price, because that company had a monopoly. It so happens that at the corner of Howard and Somerset streets there have been erected the Old Colony Apartments, so called, and they wisely built a plant in the basement of their building whereby they could manufacture their own electricity for heat, light and power purposes. Because of the fact that there is no street between that building and the courthouse, they would be able to light the courthouse. If there was a street between there would be no such opportunity; but, as it is, the owners of that building, with their magnificent plant, can deliver to the courthouse electricity for light, heat or power purposes. There is no street between and connection can be made easily. I can say to-day, without fear of contradiction, that the Old Colony Apartment managers from their plant at the corner of Howard and Somerset streets have made an offer to the Sheriff of Suffolk County and the Mayor of Boston to furnish electricity for power, heat and lighting purposes, for about 24 per cent less than the Edison Company has been getting for years. Eight thousand five hundred a year is the cost of lighting the new courthouse, and these parties whose names I have mentioned have signified their willingness to light the courthouse for about $6,500, making a saving of about $2,000 or $2,500. That gives a practical illustration of monopoly and competition. I am satisfied—and I am stealing the words of another man when I say this—that the greatest difficulty that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company has to contend with is to hide its earnings. Why not give them to the people of Boston? Why not give a part of them to the City of Boston? Where would they be without the rights given them by the City of Boston to lay their wires and erect their poles to light the streets? They would not be here at all if it were not for that great franchise that has been given to them. They could not do business for five minutes, could not raise a dollar on their bonds or their stock, without that privilege given them by the people of Boston. I have talked longer than I intended, but this subject interests me. I say that the Edison Company can sell their lights and light our streets for the same price that the streets are lit in Detroit by the municipal plant, and make a first-class profit, and I think it is high time that some action was taken in the matter. I want to congratulate the gentleman from West Roxbury for having introduced this resolution. It is well timed. It is time that we who are a part of this city government took an interest in saving something for the citizens, instead of talking about it. I believe it is time that we should do something effective, and I believe that this resolution introduced by Mr. Coulthurst may bring about that result.

The resolutions were referred to the Executive Committee.

PRICE OF ELECTRICITY.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Whereas, There is to-day before the Massachusetts Legislature a bill to make the maximum price of electricity used by the City of Boston for the lighting of its department buildings not to exceed the minimum price paid by any other consumer; therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston most earnestly favor the passage of the said bill, and that the Corporation Counsel convey to the members of each branch of the State Legislature this opinion of the City Council.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. President, just a word. The City of Boston pays annually to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for electricity used in lighting and for power purposes in its different public buildings—libraries, police stations, fire houses, and so forth—the sum of $119,000. The City of Boston is paying to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for lighting those public buildings a price per kilowatt hour equal to that charged to a man who may occupy an office in the Old South Building. The City of Boston is being practically robbed each year by this company of at least $35,000, paying 30 per cent more than it should pay for lighting. And I reiterate a question raised by me when I was speaking on Coun. Coulthurst's resolution,—where would they be without the great privilege granted them by the government of Boston, the franchise to do business in our streets? They, with their glutinous and their pigishness, never think for a moment of helping cut down the tax rate by giving the City of Boston a square deal in the price for electricity. It is because they have a monopoly. They say, in fact, "If you don't want to use our electricity, you don't have to," and you may then fall into the hands of that other good, public-spirited corporation, the Consolidated Gas Company. Of course, we have to use it. There is no opportunity to do otherwise. But I believe if a vigorous stand is taken on these lighting matters by the Mayor and the City Council we—the Mayor, the City Council and the heads of departments—can save $175,000 or $200,000 a year in the matter of the lighting of the streets and public buildings. In view of the fact that there is a lot of talk of our being in financial difficulties, isn't it a good time to assert ourselves and to save that amount of money? The bill which I have referred to in my order is Senate No. 831. It was introduced by Senator Horgan and is before the Committee on Public Lighting. I appeared there before that committee, and I don't think they were at all interested in my remarks. I talked for about half an hour, and then Mr. Burdett got up and winked his eye, and I feel satisfied that there will be leave to withdraw granted on Senator Horgan's bill. But it is not before the House yet, and I believe he is going to make an effort to have it passed. I think such a resolution as this might strengthen his hands; and I would, if there is no objection, move a suspension of the rule, so that this may be started on its passage now, unless there is some member objects. Well, I withdraw, Mr. Chairman.

The resolutions were referred to the Executive Committee.

CONTRACT FOR GAS LIGHTING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, March 23, 1914.

To the City Council:

I transmit herewith proposed contract between the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the City of Boston for lighting a portion of the public streets, parks and alleys for a period of ten years from April 1, 1914, together with communication from the Commissioner of Public Works relative thereto. I recommend the approval of said contract.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Public Works Department,

March 19, 1914.

To the Mayor of Boston:

I respectfully submit to your Honor forms of proposed contracts with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for lighting a portion of the public streets, parks and alleys of the City of Boston for a period of ten years from April 1, 1914, and request your approval of the award of these contracts, without advertising, as I believe that to invite further proposals by advertising would be of no avail. During the past three years, I have advertised on various occasions for an operating contract for gas lighting, with the result that the Rising Sun Street Lighting Company has been the only bidder.

This offer from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, the only producer of gas in the City of Boston, is to furnish and maintain the street gas lamps of the City of Boston for a period of ten years, at a price of $12 per lamp per year for maintenance and operation, and $9 per lamp per year for gas, with provision that this cost may be reduced by arbitration.

If this proposal is accepted, there will be approximately 10,000 gas lamps involved in these contracts, the cost of which would be $210,000 per year. Further, the company agreeing to date its contract from April 1, 1914, would make an additional saving during this year of approximately $10,000, in view of the fact that the present contract does not expire until August 1, 1914.

If these proposals are accepted, the City of Boston will be in the same position regarding gas lamps as it is in regard to electric lamps, as follows:

The contractor furnishes a stipulated amount of illumination on the street for a stipulated price and takes over the burden of repairs and maintenance of equipment formerly borne by the city, as the city, under these contracts will only furnish lamp-posts already installed and in stock.

Respectfully,

L. K. ROUTKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

This Agreement executed this March 19, 1914, by and between the City of Boston, hereinafter referred to as the "city," acting through the Commissioner of Public Works, party of the first part, and Boston Consolidated Gas Company, hereinafter referred to as the "contractor," party of the second part:

Witnesseth: That said parties each in consideration of the agreements and promises of the other do hereby agree that the contractor shall do the work of lighting with gas lamps certain streets, parks, alleys and public places for the city in accordance with specifications and upon terms and conditions as follows:

1. Work to be Done.—The work to be done shall consist of supplying all materials, labor and equipment necessary and required (except the gas and gas posts) to light with single or double burner gas incandescent mantle lamps, as per sample submitted, such streets, parks, alleys and public places in the City of Boston, except the Charles town and Hyde Park districts, on mains now existing or as they may be hereafter extended, as may from time to time be designated by the city during the continuance of this contract, for a period of ten years from April 1, 1914.

2. Plant to be Furnished by Contractor.—The contractor must furnish the plant to do the work, except the gas posts, and is required within five months from date of execution of contract to furnish and erect and put in service, at its own cost, to the satisfaction of the city, all lanterns, burners and other appurtenances, contrivances and fixtures which are necessary to operate and maintain the said lamps, and thereupon the contractor shall forthwith proceed to do the lighting. The necessary equipment shall be placed upon such gas posts as may be furnished and from time to time indicated by the city. Said plant and all appurtenances so furnished by the contractor, except gas posts furnished by the city, shall remain its property and must be removed by it at the expiration of the contract at its own expense.

If, in the opinion of the city, the contractor does not exercise due diligence in the erection of said plant, or if the materials furnished therefore are not in accordance with sample submitted, the city may give the contractor notice in writing of such dereliction and then if the contractor fails within thirty days thereafter to obey any proper order of the city in connection with the work of erecting and furnishing the plant, the said commissioner, with the consent in writing of the Mayor, may declare the contract forfeited.

3. Lamp-Posts.—The posts on which the contractor is to place and operate its lanterns will be furnished by the city to the contractor free of expense. They shall be set and connected by the contractor in locations designated by the Commissioner of Public Works, shall be neatly painted such color as the city may designate, and shall be repainted from time to time whenever, in the opinion of the city, it shall be deemed necessary, and shall be kept in good repair and plumb by the contractor. The posts must be kept free from dirt and must not be used for advertising purposes.

The contractor must furnish crossarms and all fittings above the top of posts, as at present installed, on such posts as the city may designate.

It is understood that the service pipes now in use are to be furnished by the city in their present condition, and that breakage and leaks in said service pipes are to be repaired at the expense of the contractor.

4. Lanterns.—The lanterns or equivalents must be of the form best adapted to the character and location of the lamp contracted for, and identical in construction with the sample lantern submitted. They must be so constructed that the lamps therein will be protected against insects and wind and weather. The height of the flame above the street level shall not be less than the average height for the same type of lamp now installed in the city.

5. Burners and Mantles.—The burners to be used must be first-class in material and workmanship, furnishing at all times when in service a steady, clear white light, free from smoke, and of the required candle power. All broken, smoked, blackened, ragged or frayed mantles must be at once replaced with new mantles by the contractor.

If the lamps shall not give continuously the required candle power they must be replaced by the contractor with others satisfactory to the city.

6. Time of Lighting.—All lamps must be lighted and extinguished in accordance with a schedule to be furnished by the city, said schedule not to exceed 4,000 burning hours per lamp per year. All lamps must be lighted within one hour from the time fixed in the schedule as the time for beginning, and must be extinguished within one hour from the time fixed in the schedule as the time for beginning to extinguish.

In order that the city may determine whether the lamps are lighted and extinguished in accordance with the official schedule hereinbefore mentioned, the contractor shall furnish the said official with maps or lists showing the number and geographical location of each lamp in the district of each lamplighter, and designating the particular lamp at which each lamplighter commences to light and also the lamp at which he completes the lighting; and in extinguishing the lamps the lamplighter shall begin and finish at the same lamps as are designated for beginning and finishing points in any lamp district during the term of contract, or such other information as will show the city the time of lighting and extinguishing all of said lamps.

The lamplighter and other employees of the contractor will not be permitted to climb the lamp-posts for the purpose of lighting the lamps or for any other purpose, except by use of a ladder.

7. Candle Power.—The lamps shall be maintained when in service at not less than sixty (60) horizontal candle power for single burner lamps and one hundred (100) horizontal candle power for double-burner lamps.

The city may at any time, by written notice, require the contractor to employ a competent and disinterested person connected with either the Massachusetts Institute of Technology or the Scientific Department of Harvard University, or such other person acceptable to both parties, to examine and test by standard laboratory methods under conditions which duplicate as nearly as possible the lamps as they burn on the streets, the apparatus employed in furnishing the lighting service herein provided for, to ascertain whether or not the contractor is complying with the terms of this agreement, and for such purpose such person may have access at all reasonable times to the lamps, fixtures and other apparatus of the contractor used in carrying out this agreement. In case two tests of any lamp shall be made, separated by an interval of not less than one hour during any one night and both of said tests shall prove that the contractor is not furnishing the light required by this agreement, then such lamp shall be deemed to be deficient, and a deduction shall be made from the charge in respect to such lamp as herein provided. If such tests show that the contractor is not furnishing the light required by this agreement, the contractor shall pay the expense of the examination and test provided for herein; otherwise the city shall pay such expense.

For each lamp which shall be shown by the tests above specified to furnish less than 60 candle power for single-burner lamps and 100 candle power for double-burner lamps, but more than 30 candle power for single-burner lamps and 50 candle power for double-burner lamps, a sum equal to $\frac{1}{16}$ of the yearly contract price for such lamp for each night in which such deficiency occurs shall be deducted from the amounts due to the contractor. For each lamp found to give less than 30 candle power for single-burner lamps and 50 candle power for double-burner lamps, a sum equal to $\frac{1}{8}$ of the yearly contract price for such lamp for each night on which such deficiency occurs shall be deducted from the amounts due to the contractor. For each lamp reported out by the Police Department at its respective police stations or by the officials of the Public Works Department, a sum equal to $\frac{1}{16}$ of the yearly contract price for such lamp for each night such failure occurs shall similarly be deducted from the amounts due to the contractor. Such reports shall be made daily in writing, open to the contractor, and shall be regarded as final and binding upon the contractor except for errors proven or admitted.

The standard of candle power to be employed shall be the recognized international candle.

8. Repairs and Maintenance.—The contractor must at its own expense keep the entire plant in good repair and maintain same to the satisfaction of the city. Upon failure of the contractor to promptly make any and all necessary repairs (including repainting of lanterns and posts) the city may cause same to be done and deduct the cost thereof from any amounts that may become due to the contractor. All glass must be cleaned at least once a week, and often if necessary to do so, in order not to retard or diminish the candle power of the lamps. All broken or displaced glass, and all broken or defective mantles, and all broken and defective gas posts—posts to be furnished by the city—must be replaced forthwith, and all street lamps, here required, must be so constructed that the present signs and house numbers may be attached, or the contractor shall furnish street signs and house numbers at its own expense suitable to the lamp furnished by it and to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Public Works. The street signs shall, after each cleaning, be replaced, facing the proper street. All broken or displaced glassware shall be forthwith removed from the street by the contractor.

The contractor shall report, in writing, at the office of the official in charge of street lighting, on Thursday of each week, the number of each kind of lamps lighted on each of the preceding seven nights, and on the tenth day of each month, the number of each kind lighted, as aforesaid, on each night subsequent to the last report, stating in each report the name of each person lighting the lamps and the locations of any and all lamps added to or removed from the district of each lamplighter, and is to notify said official in writing of any damage to or repair needed to the posts or service pipes.

9. Removal of Lamps.—Whenever ordered to do so by the city, the contractor must change the location of lamps and gas posts, weather permitting, from one place to another at its own cost and expense.

10. New Lamps.—The city, may from time to time, order the erection and maintenance of new or additional lamps and gas posts—posts to be furnished by the city—at such locations on mains now existing or as they may be hereafter extended, as it may deem proper, and it shall be the duty of the contractor, at its own cost and expense, to set and connect such posts and to place upon such posts such additional lamps and maintain the same in all respects as called for in these specifications. All additional lamps ordered shall be put in service within ten days after they are ordered, and the posts set and connected, and notice that the same are in service shall be given by the contractor to the city.

11. Discontinuance of Lamps.—The city shall have the right to increase or diminish the number of lamps furnished under the contract, but it is understood that the total number of lamps to be furnished under the contract shall not at any time be less than 95 per cent of the number of lamps in service at the time of approval of this contract by the Mayor, plus any subsequent installations ordered by the city. When orders to discontinue lamps are given, in accordance with the above, the contractor must put them out of service within three days and notify the city in writing; payment for the same shall cease on such discontinuance, and when the contractor removes a lantern without substituting another therefor, he shall properly plug the service pipe so that the gas will not escape therefrom.

12. Extension of Contract.—The city may, at its option, to be signified in writing not later than Jan. 1st, 1924, extend the term herein designated for the continuance of the contract for a period not exceeding six months, so that there may be no interruption of service in case the city enters into a new contract involving other parties or different equipment or both. For this purpose the city may call upon the contractor at any time within the extended period to discontinue the lighting of the entire area covered by its operations or of such parts thereof as the city may from time to time determine: provided, however, that such parts shall be so arranged that no fraction of any established lamplighter's route shall require lighting for a longer period than two nights, and that not less than two weeks' notice shall be given the contractor in regard to each such part.

The contractor shall promptly remove its equipment from all posts on which lighting has been discontinued, and co-operate with the city in recording the dates on which lighting ceased.

13. Payments.—A payment for the work performed under this contract shall be made by the city monthly, in the same manner as other city work is paid for, at the rates specified in this agreement and subject to appropriations.

For all services and materials whatsoever which it is required to render under this contract the contractor shall receive and shall accept as full compensation payment at the rate of $12.00 per lamp per year for single-burner lamps and $15 per lamp per year for double-burner lamps.

14. Arbitration.—At any time during the continuance of this agreement, if the Commissioner of Public Works is of the opinion that a material reduction has been made in the cost of lighting and extinguishing lamps or of furnishing to the city the service herein provided for, he may demand an investigation as to such reduction in cost. Such investigation shall be made by three experts, one to be chosen by each party and the third by the two so chosen.

If the experts find that for a period of one year prior to the investigation the cost of lighting and extinguishing or of furnishing the service, including interest, depreciation and all other proper charges, is less than for the first year of this agreement by an amount exceeding one dollar ($1) per lamp per year, then the price shall be reduced by one-half such saving in cost. If the amount of the saving is less than one dollar ($1) per lamp per year, no reduction shall be made.

The city shall pay the cost of the investigation, and the decision of the experts or of a majority of the experts shall be final and conclusive on both parties.

15. Miscellaneous.—The contractor shall give preference in employment, first, to citizens of Massachusetts, second to other citizens of the United States, and shall allow all employees on said work to lodge, board and trade where they choose, and shall not obstruct any other person in doing work for the city; and shall conform to all the labor laws of the Commonwealth; and no laborer, workman or mechanic working within this Commonwealth in the employ of the contractor, sub-contractor or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contractor, shall be requested or required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day. This contract is made subject to all the laws of the Commonwealth, and if any clause thereof does not conform to such law such clause shall be void and such law operative in lieu thereof.

The contractor hereby agrees to indemnify and save the city harmless from and against any and all claims and demands for damages, costs and expenses for or on account of injuries to persons or property arising from the erection, construction, maintenance and use of lamps, and all other plant or growing out of the work to be done under this contract, and further agrees to hold the city harmless from any patent litigation caused by the contractor's infringement or alleged infringement of patents, and to pay all costs, expenses and fees in connection with same.

In witness whereof the City of Boston has caused this agreement to be executed in its name and behalf by its Commissioner of Public Works, and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company has caused this agreement to be executed in its name and behalf by E. N. Wrightington, its second vice president, thereunto duly authorized.

3. ELECTRIC LIGHTING CONTRACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
March 18, 1914.

To the Honorable City Council:

I have made a contract with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for furnishing and maintaining electric street lighting service for the City of Boston, and I herewith transmit this contract for your approval, in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909.

Attached hereto is the permission of his Honor the Mayor for me to take this action.

The estimated cost of this contract, based on the number of electric lamps in operation on March 9, 1914, is about $475,448.93, and will be subject to possible increase from year to year, on account of the installation of additional lamps.

The following is a description of the service to be furnished, with the price per lamp per year, on the basis of a ten-year contract period.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, March 17, 1914.
To the Mayor of Boston:

I respectfully request your permission to award a contract, without advertising, for the lighting of a portion of the streets and alleys of Boston by electricity, for a period of ten (10) years dating from April 1, 1914, to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston.

My reason for requesting permission to award this contract without advertising is that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston is the only company which can do this work. The new schedule of rates, with the discounts proposed in this contract, will mean an annual saving of $75,380.81, based on the number of electric lamps in operation on March 9, 1914.

This contract will not become operative until it has, in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, received your approval, together with that of the City Council, after a public hearing.

Yours respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

AGREEMENT FOR ELECTRIC STREET LIGHTING SERVICE.

The City of Boston, through its duly authorized representative, hereby applies to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston for all its Electric Street Lighting Service, to be rendered by said Company pursuant hereto and subject to the Street Lighting Terms and Conditions, printed herewith, all things to be furnished or done to the reasonable satisfaction of the Commissioner of Public Works.

Description of District Supplied.

All parts of the City of Boston except Charlestown, and including Charlestown, if and when said Company shall, during the continuance of this agreement, purchase the electric distributing system located therein, at which time the public lamps then installed in said Charlestown shall be added to the number of lamps then installed under this agreement and shall come under the operation of this agreement.

Description of Service.

40 candle power Inc. lamp; 60 candle power Inc. lamp; 80 candle power Inc. lamp; 100 candle power Inc. lamp; 200 candle power Inc. lamp; 320 candle power Inc. lamp; 400 candle power Inc. lamp; 425 watt A. C. Arc lamp; 800 candle power Magnetite 500 watt D. C. Arc. lamp; 1,600 candle power Thoran 500 watt D. C. Arc. lamp.

The following is substituted for the provision for arbitration set out in the last clause of the 3d of the Terms and Conditions, viz.:

"At any time during the continuance of this Agreement, the City or the Company may demand an investigation of the question,—Whether the cost to the Company, including depreciation and interest on investment, of furnishing the service to the City called for hereby is, at the time of such investigation, less than at the date of this Agreement; and if so, how much. In determining that issue, the Investigators may take into consideration the cost to the Company of any or all other parts of its supply and any other pertinent facts and conditions which they may deem important. Such investigation or investigations shall be made by the then head professors of applied electricity, by whatever titles known, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the scientific department of Harvard University, if able and willing to serve. In case either is unable or unwilling to serve, his substitute shall be named by the then President of said Institute or University, as the case may be. In case of any disagreement between said Investigators, they may call in an Arbitrator of their own selection. The decision of said Investigators, or of either of them and said Arbitrator, shall be binding upon the City and the Company until the Supreme Court of Massachusetts has decided that the constitutional rights of either are thereby infringed."

The following is substituted for the 5th of the Terms and Conditions hereto attached:

"The Municipality may, at any time, by written notice, require the Company to employ a competent and disinterested person connected with either the Massachusetts Institute of Technology or the scientific department of Harvard University to examine and test the electrical currents and apparatus employed in furnishing the lighting service herein provided for, to ascertain whether or not the Company is complying with the terms of this Agreement, and for such purpose such person may have access at all reasonable times to the lamps, poles, wires, fixtures and other apparatus of the Company used in carrying out this Agreement.

In case two tests of any circuit or lamp shall be made, separated by an interval of not less than one hour, during any one night, and both of said tests shall prove that the Company is not furnishing the electrical energy or light required by this Agreement, then such circuit or such lamp shall be deemed to be outages as provided herein. If such tests show that the Company is not furnishing the electrical energy or light required by this Agreement, the Company shall pay the expense of the examination and test herein provided for; otherwise the Municipality shall pay such expense."

The following is substituted for the last sentence of the 7th of the Terms and Conditions hereto attached:

"Lamps of any type may be substituted for lamps of any other type if the Municipality pays the total expense of making the change and the total amount of payments by the Municipality hereunder at the then standard rates is not thereby diminished, except that, when standard incandescent lamps of large candle power have been so improved that they can, without increase in watts or in maintenance cost to the Company, be substituted for Magnetite lamps, the Company will, upon demand of the Municipality, and without charge for making the change therefor, substitute such an incandescent lamp for any Magnetite lamp, at the price provided herein for Magnetite lamps."

Clause in margin attached before examination.

The contractor shall give preference in employment, first, to citizens of Massachusetts, second, to other citizens of the United States; and shall allow all employees on said work to lodge, board and trade where they choose and shall not obstruct any other person in doing work for the city; and shall conform to all the labor laws of the Commonwealth; and no laborer, workman or mechanic working within this Commonwealth in the employ of the contractor, subcontractor or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contractor shall be requested or required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day. The contract is made subject to all the laws of the Commonwealth, and if any clause thereof does not conform to such law such clause shall be void and such law operative in lieu thereof.

(Signed C. L. E. & L. K. R.)

And said Municipality agrees to be bound by the Street Lighting Terms and Conditions of the Company, printed herewith, and to pay the prices called for in the Company's Schedule E, printed herewith, until March 31, 1924, and thereafter until one year after written notice by either party to the other of its election to terminate this agreement, which notice may be given at any time after the beginning of the one-year period next preceding the expiration of the original period above fixed.

This agreement shall take effect as of April 1, 1914, and is subject to appropriations for street lighting.

This agreement is in substitution for and in place of all existing agreements for street lighting between the parties.

CITY OF BOSTON,

BY

Commissioner of Public Works.

Street Lighting Terms and Conditions.

The foregoing Agreement is subject to the following Terms and Conditions:

1. The lamps, poles, wires, fixtures and other apparatus, appliances and materials necessary for the performance of this Agreement, except posts for incandescent lamps supplied from underground circuits, shall be furnished by the Company and kept in good order and condition by it. The lamps shall give a clear and steady light. The Company shall furnish electrodes (carbons) for and trim all arc lamps, and will renew incandescent lamps whenever they become dim, broken or burned out.

2. Payments hereunder shall be made monthly on the regular pay day of the Municipality.

3. The Company will give the Municipality the benefit of any lower prices for service such as that herein provided for, or of any better quality or efficiency of service, which may at any time during the continuance of this Agreement be enjoyed by any Municipality served by it, such relative prices, quality and efficiency to be determined by taking into consideration all the circumstances and conditions in both cases. Upon written demand by the Municipality the Company shall thereafter give to the Municipality the benefit of two thirds of any general reduction in the present cost to the Company, including depreciation and interest on investment, of supplying the service called for by this Agreement, but only so long as and to the extent that such decreased cost shall continue. If at any time during the continuance of this Agreement the Company and the Municipality shall disagree upon any matter embraced in this term and condition, it shall be referred to the arbitration of three disinterested persons, selected one by the Municipality, one by the Company, and the third by the other two, a decision of a majority of whom shall be binding upon the parties, provided the constitutional rights of either party shall not thereby be infringed.

4. The Company will indemnify and save harmless the Municipality against any and all claims for damages, loss, cost and expense on account of injury to persons or property arising in any way out of the erection, construction, maintenance or use of any of the lamps, poles, wires, fixtures and other apparatus and appliances furnished by the Company hereunder, except where such injury is the result, in whole or in part, of the fault or neglect of the Municipality, its officers, servants or agents, while acting as agents of the Municipality; and against any and all claims for damages by reason of any alleged infringement of patent rights in the use of lamps, poles, wires, fixtures, machinery and other apparatus, appliances and material supplied by the Company hereunder; and will, at its own expense, assume the defence of all actions at law or in equity which may be brought against the Municipality upon any claims as aforesaid, and also against all decrees, judgments and orders of any court based thereon.

5. The Municipality may at all times, with or without the Company's knowledge, employ a competent person to examine and test the electrical currents and apparatus employed in furnishing the lighting service herein provided for, to ascertain whether or not the Company is complying with the terms of this Agreement, and for such purpose the Company agrees that such person may have access at all reasonable times to said lamps, poles, wires, fixtures and other apparatus of the Company used in carrying out this Agreement.

The Municipality will indemnify and save harmless the Company against any and all claims for damages, loss, cost and expense on account of injury to persons or property arising in any way out of the employment, act or neglect of any such person, except such as may arise, in whole or in part, from the fault or neglect of the Company, its agents or servants, while acting as agents of the Company.

In case two tests of any circuit or lamp shall be made, separated by an interval of not less than one hour, during any one night, and both of said tests shall prove that the Company is not furnishing the electrical energy or light required by this Agreement, then such circuit or such lamp shall be deemed to be outages as provided herein.

6. Such additional lamps shall be installed, without charge to the Municipality, as may be designated by the Municipality at any time before notice is given to terminate this Agreement, provided the Company shall not be required to extend its lines more than four hundred feet overhead, or in localities served by underground construction more than one hundred feet underground, to reach any lamp; but the Municipality may require extension of lines for additional lamps at any time during the term of this Agreement, by paying the cost of so much of the extension as exceeds that herein required to be made by the Company, such payments to apply as credits on future bills for lighting on such additional lines. Whenever requested by the Municipality, the Company will change the location of any lamps at the expense of the Municipality, not exceeding, however, five dollars for each arc lamp and three dollars for each incandescent lamp so moved, unless new lines or poles are required.

7. The discontinuance of any street or highway shall have the effect of discontinuing whatever lamps may have been located on such street or way. The Municipality may at any time discontinue a lamp or lamps for reasonable cause, but the number of lamps of any type in service at any time shall not, except as hereinbelow provided, be less than ninety-five per cent of the maximum number of such lamps in service under this Agreement at any time prior thereto. In case of such discontinuance the installation of any lamps at other locations shall be charged for the same as changes of locations under Article 6 hereof until the original number installed shall again have been reached. Lamps of any type may be substituted for lamps of any other type if the Municipality pays the total expense of making the change and the total amount of payments by the Municipality hereunder at the then standard rates is not thereby diminished.

8. Should the Municipality at any time find that the Company is not complying fully with the terms and requirements of this Agreement, the Municipality shall immediately notify the Company of such fact, and the Company shall at once remedy the fault, but failure to give such notice shall not impair any obligation of the Company. But the Company shall not be responsible for any failure to supply electricity if such failure is without default or neglect on its part.

9. If the Municipality shall at any time during the continuance of this Agreement be required to purchase the whole or any part of the plant of the Company located within the limits of said Municipality, under the present law, or any amendment thereof, the Municipality shall not be held for the unexpired term of this Agreement, nor shall this Agreement or the unexpired term thereof be in any way considered as an element of value in such purchase; provided, however, that in case of such purchase the Municipality shall not be entitled to the full discount provided for in this Agreement, unless it shall have been in operation for the full period thereof. If the Agreement shall not have been in operation for the full period thereof, because of such purchase, the accounts between the Municipality and the Company shall be adjusted so as to make the total net payments by the Municipality to the Company what they would have been if the Agreement had been made for the period during which it was actually in operation.

Bond

Obligation.—The undersigned surety company hereby binds itself, its successors and assigns, to pay to the City of Boston the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).

Condition.—This obligation is upon the condition that if the party to the contract hereto annexed other than the City, shall well and truly keep and perform all the agreements, terms and conditions of said contract on his part to be kept and performed, and shall also pay for all labor performed or furnished and for all material used in the carrying out of said contract, then this obligation shall become and be null and void; otherwise it shall be and remain in full force and virtue.

TRANSFER OF QUARANTINE SERVICE.

The following was received:

March 23, 1914.

To the City Council:

Being of the opinion that the quarantine service of the port of Boston should be placed under the supervision and jurisdiction of the United States authorities, I transmit herewith a copy of an ordinance abolishing this service and an order authorizing the transfer of the property of the city used in the quarantine service to the United States Government. I recommend the passage of the ordinance and the order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. All the powers and duties of the Board of Health relative to the maintenance of the quarantine service in the port of Boston shall be abolished upon the transfer to the United States of America of the property used in said service.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized in the name and behalf of the city to convey to the United States of America for quarantine purposes by a suitable quitclaim deed the island in Boston Harbor known as Gallup's Island, together with the buildings thereon and all other property used in connection with the quarantine service hitherto performed by the city, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Mayor of the City of Boston and the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, such conveyance to be made upon the condition that the United States shall, upon reasonable terms and conditions, receive for treatment upon said island persons afflicted with smallpox who may be sent thereto by the City of Boston.

In connection with the foregoing, Mayor Curley appeared before the Council with Dr. Leland E. Cofer and Dr. Victor M. Safford, and made the following statement:

Mayor CURLEY.—Mr. President, the question of a transfer of the custody of the quarantine service at Boston has been under consideration for a great many years. Certain of our business men have at times been opposed to the transfer because of the possibility of interference in the matter of handling shipments. But to-day there are only two cities in the entire United States on the seacoast that are not directly under federal supervision in the matter of quarantine. The transfer of the custody of the quarantine station to the federal government would represent an annual saving to the City of Boston of $40,000, and, in addition to that, would make possible uniformity of supervision, uniformity of control and uniformity of treatment of quarantine and commercial matters. Doctor Safford and Doctor Cofer are here. Doctor Cofer is the assistant United States Surgeon-General, I believe, having to do with quarantine matters. He is connected with the Treasury Department and comes here with authority from the Treasury Department to make the necessary negotiations with the City of Boston in the question of the transfer of the custody of quarantine matters from Boston to the federal authorities. New York and Boston are to-day the only ports that are not under control of the federal government in the matter of quarantine. The objections to the transfer in the past, outside of slight objections raised by certain business interests, on the ground that there might be an interference with shipping, have been based on the fear that it would be impossible to secure such concessions from the federal authorities as would permit of the treatment of persons afflicted with smallpox at the quarantine station. But Doctor Cofer informs me that the federal authorities are willing to waive any right they may have in the matter and continue to treat persons afflicted with smallpox in the same manner that the City of Boston treats them at the present time. It would, of course, mean the transfer of Gallup's Island to the federal authorities, and it would mean the transfer of the steamer "Vigilant" to the federal authorities. A price would necessarily have to be set upon the quarantine station at Gallup's Island and upon the steamer "Vigilant" and the other launch or boat that is used in conjunction with the steamer "Vigilant." Personally, I believe in uniformity in the matter of health regulations, and I believe that every facility should be afforded those men who are charged with the responsibility by the federal government of passing upon the admissibility of persons desiring to enter the United States. Under our present system we have a duplication of service which represents an expense to the federal government and an additional expense, which might be avoided, of approximately $40,000 annually to the City of Boston. Mr. President with your permission, I would most respectfully ask that the Council grant Doctor Cofer a brief space of time in which to present his views. Doctor Cofer, gentlemen.

Dr. LELAND E. COFER—Your Honor, Mr. Mayor, and gentlemen of the City Council, I have perhaps very little to add to what the Mayor has said in regard to the situation. I think he has covered it very well. As he says, what we want to establish through a transfer of this sort is uniformity. By uniformity we get economy of administration. We believe that all matters that have to do with maritime commerce should, as far as possible, come under government control; that is to say, questions relating to the entrance of vessels to the United States from foreign countries. The government, as you know, maintains the dredging of harbors and carries through harbor improvements, has laws relative to the buoys and light-house, also navigation and immigration laws, customs restrictions, and finally quarantine, and the laws and regulations operate uniformly everywhere except in matters of quarantine. In that respect they operate uniformly everywhere except in Boston, New York and Baltimore. I think the Mayor neglected to mention Baltimore. But that is rather a small port, and in a way we have an influence over matters of quarantine there, in that we keep in constant telephonic communication with the office at Baltimore and frequently do a great deal of Baltimore's work at Cape Charles. I think that finally all the ports will ask to be taken under the national organization for the reason that the uniformity we propose to bring about will redound to the benefit of maritime interests, unquestionably. The other day, in the proclamation concerning Panama, one of the stipulations was that our service should run the quarantine. We have a system that applies not only to all the United States but also to foreign ports, and you might say that we have at our beck and call, in connection with the quarantine system, the consular corps and the diplomatic corps in foreign ports. We have every facility for getting such live and up-to-date information as is frequently necessary about diseases in foreign ports, for instance. Such information can only be acquired by such an organization as ours. I think that no state or city organization can possibly get the information that we can get or can act on it in the way that we can act. On that account we are going to do everything we can to help along in this transfer, because we think it is a good thing for the whole United States. In a quarantine sense we do not think of the City of Boston or the city of New York in a local sense, because these ports are so large and have such an important influence from the standpoint of people passing through them into the interior, that we attach to them national importance; and I think it is on that account that Congress is willing to appropriate the money and to increase our appropriation every time when they see us endeavoring to take over the quarantine of an important port. I don't think I need say anything more, except in answer to questions. The question may occur to you, what would be the difference in administration of the quarantine, the way it is now, under local control, and the way in which we would handle it. I can say that, as far as the average person is concerned, I do not think he would notice any difference. If any improvements are needed, we shall certainly try to put them into effect. If there is anything that can be done which will be an improvement in the way of administration, we will try to introduce it. If there is anything wrong, we shall try to correct it. But, so far as any embarrassment to commerce is concerned through lack of coordination between the shipping interests here and the control through Washington, I want to say that any ideas you may have along those lines are erroneous. We endeavor everywhere to facilitate commerce. I mention that because once before when this question came up the objection was raised to the proposed transfer along that line. It was argued that under the present regime in Boston any trouble that occurred could be settled here in Boston, where the head of the quarantine service was located, but that if the United States took control it would have to be referred to Washington. I want to say that that point should not be brought up. I can promise you that if this transfer is made it will not act to the detriment of your commerce. I shall be very glad to answer any questions.

Mayor CURLEY.—Just one point, doctor. There is always the possibility that some persons may be interested in persons employed at the quarantine station. It is customary, is it not, for the federal government, when it takes over a quarantine station, as far as possible to transfer over into the service all the persons in the local service?

Dr. COFER.—Yes, that has been the custom.

Coun. WATSON.—I would like to ask you a question. Where did this plan originate, from the federal authorities or from the city?

Dr. COFER.—A plan of this sort always originates from the city. The federal authorities never act seeking a transfer.

Coun. COULTHURST.—I would like to ask you, doctor, how long the national government has had general control of quarantine?

Dr. COFER—Ever since February 15, 1893. May I amplify my answer just a little? Before that time the quarantines of all ports of the United States were operated under, you might say, police control, under various kinds and degrees of regulations and various kinds of requirements, which sometimes changed from day to day. In those days the local quarantine authorities of various ports would sometimes, as a matter of competition, offer easier quarantine restrictions in order to get commerce to come to their port. So a national law was passed in order to regulate the matter, and in that law provision was made for transfer of authority from local authority in these boards to the government, if the local authorities wanted to have the quarantine run by the government. A year ago we took over Providence.

Coun. COUTHURST—When did you take over Philadelphia?

Dr. COFER—Philadelphia we have had for a long time. We have not taken over Philadelphia in the sense in which we have taken over some places. But there have been two quarantine stations there, one on the Delaware river and one at Marcus Hook. Our officers got on board, bills of lading were signed, and work of that sort which would facilitate traffic was done. A year ago the consolidation was made. But all the fumigating at Delaware river is done by us. All the state people do is general inspection.

Coun. COUTHURST—You give general satisfaction at the other ports along the coast?

Dr. COFER—I think so. Of course, in the matter of quarantine, you will hear complaints. You cannot help that. But in the long run we do give satisfaction.

Coun. COLLINS—I would like to ask the gentleman one question. When a matter of this kind is being agitated, very frequently local business men will object. I would like to find out from you what has been the result of your experience when you have taken over these other ports—whether or not there was any opposition generally on the part of the local Chambers of Commerce or business men of those communities?

Dr. COFER—I can answer the question in this way, that it is generally pretty well threshed out before it is decided, and afterwards I don't know of any particular trouble. In the case of Philadelphia, the consolidation that took place there was at the request of the maritime exchange. Of course, they technically did not make the request. It had to be done by the City Council. But the City Council acted as a result of their representation. I think, in the case of New York, you will find, as a matter of record, that the shipping interests have signified their willingness to have the government take over the quarantine. They would not say that they would work for it, but they signified their willingness to have the United States take the quarantine work over. They look at it in this way, that the United States controls so many features of their commerce that they would just as soon have them take charge of the quarantine. But, in answer to your question, I don't know of any complaints. That is to say, back-fire complaints. They may occur, but I don't know about them.

Coun. WATSON—In the case of Philadelphia, isn't there a duplication there now, as you describe it?

Dr. COFER—Not now. There was, but there is no duplication now.

President McDONALD—Any other questions that members wish to ask the doctor? (No response.)

The matter was referred to the Executive Committee.

President McDONALD—The Mayor now desires to say a word to the members on the lighting contract.

Mayor CURLEY—Mr. President and members of the City Council, I appreciate the fact that it is a little out of the ordinary, but, with the desire to facilitate business, I believe, so long as I am here, with the permission of your president, I may say just a word in the matter of the lighting contracts sent in this afternoon. Those contracts become operative not when approved by the City Council and the Mayor, but become operative as of April 1. So if those contracts are adopted within a reasonable time they will result in a saving to the city beginning with the 1st of April. As compared with the present prices, in all probability they will represent a saving to the city this year of $60,000 to $70,000, or under a ten-years' contract a saving in excess of $1,000,000. I simply want to bring that matter to the attention of the Council.

Coun. WATSON—I would like to ask a question. Would you kindly inform me, Mr. Mayor, whether or not you have received any bids from any other concern beside the Consolidated Gas Company, or have requested that others bid?

Mayor CURLEY—I will say to Mr. Watson that a request was received from some New York concern for the privilege of bidding on the gas lighting contract. But the subject matter has been before the city government now for somewhere in the vicinity of four years, and each year we have renewed the contract at the end of every six months' period at a loss to the city, as compared with the prices being paid, of in the neighborhood of $30,000. In other words, $120,000 has actually been wasted through the extensions of the contracts. I do not believe in extending the contracts. I want to say, so far as the Edison Company is concerned, that it has been eminently fair in the matter of the street lighting contract. The price per arc light paid at the present time is $103 per annum. I conferred with the officials of the company and later had Mr. Rourke confer with them. They asked what I felt would be a fair price. I said I believed $85 was all we could pay, and they finally agreed with Mr. Rourke on a price of $87.53, which represents a saving of $15.47 per arc light per year. On a 5,000 arc light contract, on a ten years' basis, that means a saving of very nearly $777,000, or on the total contracts, a saving of in the vicinity of nearly $1,100,000. With reference to the men who are employed as lighters by the gas lighting company, their organization waited upon me and asked me to favor a proposition looking to municipal ownership. I informed the committee that I did not believe in it under present conditions. Under present conditions we are compelled, if we wish to engage in municipal ownership, to buy one or more of the existing gas or electric lighting plants, and that would compel the city to expend $30,000,000 in excess of what actually should be expended; in other words, to expend $30,000,000 for real estate and old buildings. They then asked if I would favor an extension of the statute provisions at present prevailing which permits of their being covered into the city's service whenever routes are abolished, either through the extension of the electric lighting system or possibly through the adoption of an automatic lighting device. I informed the committee that I would be pleased to have the Corporation Counsel go to the Legislature and ask the Legislature for a two-years' extension of the covering-in provision, and that at the end of two years, in the event of my being here, I would ask for a further extension so that the men would be safe guarded in their positions. I want to be absolutely frank and to say that these prices that have been agreed upon are the lowest that have been presented to the city during the four years that the matter has been up for discussion, and there is a proviso in the gas lighting contract that, in the event of an automatic device being developed during the life of the contract, the city shares one-half of the net saving resulting in consequence of such adoption. I believe there is also some similar provision in reference to electric lighting—that in the event of a reduction there we also make a saving.

His Honor the Mayor then retired from the Council Chamber.

PAYMENT TO JAMES LYNCH.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered the following orders: That the City Council of Boston hereby accepts an act entitled "An Act to Authorize the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to James Lynch," said act being chapter 58, Acts of 1914.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of chapter 58, Acts of 1914, there be allowed and paid to James Lynch, an employee of the city, a sum not exceeding twenty-seven dollars ($27) on account of an injury which he sustained in the course of his employment by the city, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for Reserve Fund.

REPAIR OF CLOCK, SOUTH BOSTON.

Coun. ATTRIDGE offered an order—That the Fire Commissioner be authorized to repair the damage at St. Augustine's Church, South Boston, caused by the falling of the weight box belonging to the city clock in the tower of said church, the expense thus incurred to be charged to the appropriation for Fire Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at four o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. WATSON, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.08 p. m.

The report was accepted, and the order was declared laid over under the rule.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule that this order may be put upon its passage at this time. The amount is small, and this party has waited for it for a long time. I think it would be only just to-day to suspend the rule, and I make that motion.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

(14) Report on preamble and resolve (referred to-day) concerning the price of electricity used by the City of Boston—that the resolve ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the resolution.

Coun. COUTHURST—Mr. President, I do not propose to take much of the time of the Council discussing this matter, but I want to repeat what I said in the Executive Committee. The thing I was afraid of has happened. The Edison Company has succeeded in partly putting through a new contract without publicity, and a contract which, to my mind, does not give a sufficient reduction from the present rate. This order has been recommended by the Executive Committee with the object of calling officially to the attention of the Mayor and Mr. Rourke a comparison between the rates here in Boston and in Detroit and Chicago, showing that we are getting the worst end of it under the existing contract in a scandalous way and also showing that we are not going to get a reasonable deal under the contract that the Mayor has sent to us to-day. Of course, this contract does not take effect until we give our approval. But I want justice done, and I want the Mayor and the Commissioner of Public Works, if they will do so, to give this matter reconsideration. I want the Edison Company to realize that this body is watching them closely; that they cannot put through a proposition this year that is going to do injustice to the people of the City of Boston.

The resolutions were passed.

(15) Report on order (referred to-day) that the Finance Commission be requested to study the budget systems of the principal cities and states of the United States—that the order ought to pass.

Ordered, That the salary of Ethel Wood, assistant female probation officer of the Municipal Criminal Court, determined by the Chief Justice of said court at the rate of twelve hundred dollars per year to begin February 10, 1914, be and the same is hereby approved, the amount so paid to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Municipal Court of the City of Boston.

Report accepted; order laid over under the rule.

Coun. ATTRIDGE—Mr. President, I move you, sir, that the rule be suspended on the order for payment to Miss Ethel Wood, which was laid over under the rule. The matter has been before us since February 16, there is no objection to it, and the lady will not receive any of her salary until it has been approved by this Council. I move you, sir, that the rule be suspended so that it may go upon its passage to-day.

PROTEST AGAINST STREET LEGISLATION.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Whereas, A bill known as Senate Bill No. 142 entitled "An Act Relative to the Improvement of Streets and Thoroughfares in the City of Boston" is now under consideration by the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and

Whereas, Said act takes away from the City Council the naming of the streets and thoroughfares to be improved; therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston protests against the passage of said act.

Ordered, That the City Clerk send a copy of the preamble and resolution to the Clerk of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives of the State of Massachusetts.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, this order I intended to introduce earlier in the day, but in some way it got mislaid. Senate Bill 142 is an amendment to the so-called street loan act of last year, which provided that the city might borrow inside or outside of the debt limit $2,500,000, covering a period of five years, $500,000 each year. That act was accepted by the voters of Boston through referendum. I would say, however, that this Senate Bill 142 was reported by the committee, has already passed the Senate and is now in its third reading stage in the House. The bill takes away our right to name the streets and also has a mandatory provision that we shall borrow this money outside of the debt limit. I do not believe that the Governor will sign it, because it is against the policy of the present administration in the Mayor's office; and the original bill was accepted by the voters under referendum, and any amendment thereto should be accepted in the same way. I trust that the rules will be suspended, if necessary and that the order will be passed to-day.

Coun. COULTHURST—Mr. President, as I heard that resolution read, I do not think it contains an objection to what to my mind is the most pernicious clause of the bill—namely, the clause which makes it compulsory for the city to borrow this money, whether it wants to do so or not. Am I right about that?

Coun. WATSON—I think that is right. I read the bill through hurriedly, and I thought it had to do only with the question of naming the streets. I am perfectly willing to amend the resolution by inserting any clause which the gentleman from West Roxbury desires. I think it is enough that we should protest against the passage of the bill, entirely aside from the question of the power to name streets. In that way we would register our objection against the whole bill, including the provision in regard to naming streets and the provision which makes it mandatory upon the city to make such loans whether it wishes to do so or not, outside of the debt limit. If we simply oppose the bill, we will cover all those points.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—I would like to have the resolution read that we are opposed to the entire bill.

Coun. COULTHURST—I think if a provision is inserted in there to the effect that we also object to the bill because it contains a pernicious clause making it compulsory upon the city to borrow the money outside of the debt limit, whether it wishes to do so or not, it will cover my objection.

Coun. WATSON—I would like to suggest, Mr. President, that we might strike out all of the resolution that specifies any particular objection, merely letting it go baldly that we are opposed to the act, calling it by its name. That might be the easiest way to get around it.

Coun. BALLANTYNE—Mr. President, I would move to strike out the word "and" at the end of the first paragraph, and then, immediately following that, the second preamble, so that it will read:

"Whereas, a bill known as Senate Bill No. 142, entitled 'An Act Relative to the Improvement of Streets and Thoroughfares in the City of Boston' is now under consideration by the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts;

"Resolved, That the City Council of Boston protests against the passage of such act.

"Ordered, That the Clerk send a copy of the preamble and resolution to the Clerk of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the State of Massachusetts."

The City Council will then go on record as being opposed to the entire act.

The amendment was adopted, and the preamble, resolution and order, as amended, were passed.

NEXT MEETING.

It was voted, on motion of Coun. BALLANTYNE, that when the Council adjourns it be to meet on Monday, April 6, at three o'clock p. m.

Coun. WATSON moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

FIELD DAY, PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Mar. 26, 1914, to whom was referred at the meeting of June 23, 1913 (see p. 100) a communication from his Honor the Mayor suggesting the idea of giving a field day to the boys and girls who were to graduate from the public schools during that week, with instructions that the suggestion be given most careful consideration with a view to conducting such a field day this coming June, reporting that in Mayor Fitzgerald's communication he stated he would be very glad to allow five hundred dollars from the Mayor's Office appropriation to help the School Committee in defraying expenses, but since there is no assurance that the present administration would view with favor an appropriation

DEATH OF CHARLES M. CLAY.

The following resolve was offered on the death of the late Charles M. Clay:—

Resolved, That the School Committee hereby records this expression of regret at the loss to the school system of Charles M. Clay, late head master of the Roxbury High School, whose death took place on Mar. 10, 1914:—

Mr. Clay was elected principal of the Roxbury High School, with the rank of Master, on Oct. 15, 1883, and on Dec. 1, 1885, his rank was made Head Master, the number of pupils attending the school having increased sufficiently to warrant the change.

Mr. Clay brought to his work in the Boston schools the results of some twelve years of successful experience in grammar schools elsewhere in the state, and four years of equally successful experience in a high school of a neighboring town. His native ability was strengthened from year to year in the management and direction of the Roxbury High School, which continued to increase in membership until it had outgrown its quarters to such an extent that in October, 1891, it was housed in a large and up-to-date structure.

Mr. Clay was possessed of a kindly and sympathetic nature, and a scholarly and well informed mind. Progressive and alert to every advance in educational thought, he was quick to take advantage of every opportunity to increase the efficiency of his school, and its usefulness in the field of its service.

His death will long be regretted by the pupils who came under his personal care and influence, by the teachers who were privileged to serve with him, by the community to whose interests he devoted his untiring efforts, and by the School Committee who appreciated the value of his services.

Unanimously adopted, and a copy thereof ordered to be engrossed and transmitted to the family of Mr. Clay.

ADJOURNMENT.

SEWERAGE WORKS, CHARLES RIVER BASIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 27, 1914.
To the City Council:
I transmit herewith communications from the Commissioner of Public Works in relation to the necessity of an immediate appropriation of money for sewerage works within the Charles River Basin. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order for a loan of $400,000.

Respectfully,

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
March 27, 1914.

To the Honorable the Mayor:
I beg to call your attention to my letter of March 9, 1914, asking that the sum of $400,000, authorized under the provisions of chapter 383 of the Acts of 1907 and amendments thereto, be made available for sewerage works within the Charles River Basin drainage area.

I respectfully request that prompt action be taken on this loan, because of the fact that many of the streets which have been laid out and ordered constructed by the Street Commissioners require drainage works which must be paid for from this loan, and the surface of these streets, of course, cannot be constructed until the underground work is finished.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,

This appropriation is for the construction of sewerage works in the Charles River Basin drainage area, and some of the principal items to be covered are as follows:

Shepard brook.....	$153,000 00
"393 streets".....	130,000 00
Dent street brook.....	65,000 00

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces open competitive examinations for Inspector of Safety Appliances and Inspector of Hours of Service, for men only, on April 24 and 25, 1914. From the registers of eligibles resulting from these examinations certification will be made to fill vacancies in these positions in the Interstate Commerce Commission at salaries of $1,800 per annum, with necessary allowances for expenses incurred while absent from headquarters in the discharge of official duties, and vacancies as they may occur in positions requiring similar qualifications, unless it is found to be in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement, transfer, or promotion.

It is expected that several appointments will be made to the position of Inspector of Safety Appliances and to the position of Inspector of Hours of Service.

The duties of the Safety Appliance Inspectors will comprise the making of inspections and reports as required by the Safety Appliance Acts; the duties of the Hours of Service Inspectors will be the making of inspections and reports as required by the so-called Hours of Service Act. Both Safety Appliance and Hours of Service Inspectors may be required to investigate accidents as required by section 3 of the Accident Investigation Act of May 6, 1910.

Persons who meet the requirements and desire either of these examinations should at once apply for application form 1933 to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or to the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board, Post Office, Boston, Mass.

PERMISSION TO PURCHASE FIRE DEPARTMENT EQUIPMENT.

The Mayor has granted to the Fire Commissioner authority to purchase, without advertising, necessary fire equipment, one first size motor-driven combination chemical engine and hose wagon, one first size motor-driven two-wheel front drive tractor attached to steam fire engine, all for the sum of $9,100. In making the request the Fire Commissioner says:

BOSTON, April 6, 1914.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request permission to purchase, without advertising, from the Robinson Fire Apparatus Manufacturing Company of St. Louis, Mo., with a Boston agency at 170 Summer street:

One first size motor-driven combination chemical engine and hose wagon, one first size motor-driven two-wheel front drive tractor attached to steam fire engine, all for the sum of $9,100.

My reasons for requesting permission to make this purchase without advertising are as follows:

1. Motor fire apparatus is not a staple nor standard product and the lowest bidders are not necessarily the proper ones to accept.

2. My knowledge and investigation of fire apparatus warrants the conclusion that it should be of extra heavy construction and with a heavy duty motor of greater horse power than has been purchased heretofore.

3. I have personally investigated apparatus of different makes and have come to the conclusion that in view of the extra liberal offer of this company in relation to equipment and time of delivery that this is the best offer to accept.

4. If awarded the contract this company will agree, and will furnish a bond of $2,500, to place in our repair shop duplicate parts of the above apparatus for immediate delivery in case of accident. This company also furnishes constant factory expert service.

5. This company is one of the oldest manufacturers of fire apparatus in the country, and has motor fire apparatus in service in several of the cities around Boston, and this apparatus has been giving excellent service. In my opinion this car is the most economical that can be purchased for the price.

6. The financial standing of this company is very good, which is a vital question with fire departments, especially in these days when automobile concerns all over the country are going into the hands of receivers. The company maintains a large and well organized factory.

7. This company agrees to deliver at least one piece of apparatus within forty days after the contracts have been signed, and the other piece within sixty days. The time of delivery demanded by other companies is from one hundred to one hundred and twenty days.

They also agree to install the tractor in the service for thirty days' trial in any service which I may deem advisable to make a thorough test of the apparatus.

If this apparatus is purchased it is my intention to install it in Dorchester and West Roxbury where the urgent need of motor apparatus is very apparent. Much pressure has been brought on the city by the various citizens' associations in these districts for better fire protection, and this department feels that if such apparatus is installed it will greatly increase the efficiency of the department in the outlying sections.

Yours very respectfully,
JOHN GRADY,
Fire Commissioner.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

BOSTON, April 8, 1914.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor:

SIR,—The Finance Commission submits the following report as a result of its investigation into the increases in salaries of the Police, Fire and Penal Institutions Departments during the final two years of the last administration.

The first increases in the Police and Fire Departments were voted in May, 1912, and the last increases took effect January 16, 1914, seventeen days before the end of the last administration. The increase in the Penal Institutions Department was made in August, 1913.

The Finance Commission does not pass at this time upon whether the increases are warranted. It has considered only the time when the increases were made and the methods used in obtaining them.

I. THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

1. The Police Commissioner's Responsibility to the City.

Under the Acts of 1906, chapter 291, the pay of the police force shall not be increased or diminished except by concurrent action of the Mayor and the Police Commissioner. The Police Commissioner, at the public hearings given before the Finance Commission, stated that in his opinion it was the duty of the Mayor to decide whether the city was able to pay the increases asked for, and his to acquiesce, provided the men were entitled to it and discipline was not impaired. On the question of decreasing pay, however, he did not feel that he should be controlled by the Mayor's statement of the city's finances, but must mainly be governed by the effect of such a change upon the morals of the department.

2. Retaining Counsel.

In order to obtain increases in salary the members of the Police Department retained a lawyer to represent them before the Mayor and the Police Commissioner. In 1912 they paid for his services $9,443. He testified that in 1913 he was to receive not less than the same amount. In all he was paid, or expected to be paid, for the two increases not less than $18,886. It is fair to conclude from the other testimony given before the commission that even larger remuneration was expected.

The Police Commissioner testified that he did not object to the employment of counsel by the men and was not especially concerned about the amount of the fee.

The services rendered by the lawyer consisted in the main of urging the then Mayor and the Police Commissioner to do that which they had both said would be done when financial conditions would allow it. It appears that neither the commissioner nor the then Mayor needed to be convinced that the salaries in the Police Department should be raised.

In the absence of knowledge to the contrary, or facts creating reasonable grounds for believing the contrary, it would be fair to believe that the commissioner had a right to assume that the Mayor, as chief financial officer of the city, would not have recommended the increases or concurred in the order establishing them if he had not previously satisfied himself that the city would be able to provide necessary funds in accordance with existing statutory requirements. If, however, the Police Commissioner had knowledge or notice that the city would be unable to provide for the increases in the Police Department without impairing the efficiency of other branches of the city's service, or that the proposed increases were unnecessary or improper under the circumstances, it was his duty to refuse to concur.

The Finance Commission finds that the last increase in the Police Department, that of January, 1914, appears to have been based on nothing more than a small unappropriated balance, sufficient to pay the increases in salaries for the remaining days of the former Mayor's administration. The city's ability to pay the increase for these few days has been made the basis for an increase which must be borne by the present administration. In the opinion of the Finance Commission an appropriation made under the above conditions should have been notice to the Police Commissioner, and it was his duty under the law to have refused to concur with the former Mayor and to suggest that the question of increases should go over and be settled by the incoming administration.

While there may be occasions when the men of the Police Department should employ counsel before the Legislature, and in other special instances, the Finance Commission believes that the Police Commissioner is in error to allow attorneys to appear before him on questions like increases of pay, or other matters of a purely departmental nature. The law compels publicity when attorneys appear before the Legislature. They must register and later state the compensation they receive. The wisdom of this is apparent. Publicity prevents fees from being of such a size as would cause just grounds for suspicion as to the compensation not being properly used. The employment of counsel who are paid large fees for explaining to a Mayor and a Police Commissioner well known facts, such as the high cost of living, is demoralizing to discipline and may lead to grave financial abuses.

It cannot be said that the services given in securing an increase of salary where no involved legal question was to be decided required the payment or promise of $18,886 or more.

Some idea of the demoralizing effect of such means for obtaining salary increases may be had from the records of January 11, 1914, of the Boston Social Club, composed of the patrolmen of the Police Department. At this meeting one of the members thanked his associates for their efforts in the campaign for the increase of salaries, and stated that the then Mayor was their "staunch and true friend," and urged all the members to vote at the coming election, "in order to show their strength at the polls."

The Finance Commission commends the members of the Police Department for the frankness with which they gave their testimony.

II. THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

1. The Attitude of the Fire Commissioner.

The former Fire Commissioner had no concurrent power of checking the salary increases, as had the Police Commissioner. In his testimony he stated that the employment of counsel to obtain increases in salary was unnecessary and that he so advised the members of the force. The increases in January, 1914, were made with only a few days left of the outgoing administration, but he believed they could be made within the appropriation. To accomplish this he had to defer improvements which he previously had intended to make. He knew of the employment of counsel and did not object.

2. Retaining Counsel.

Counsel was employed by the firemen through the Russell Fire Club, and by the officers through the Officer's Club. He was paid in all $6,125. He stated that he did other work for the men in the department, such as adjusting difficulties between the Fire Commissioner and the men, and presenting grievances and complaints in behalf of the members of the club. In the increases obtained in January, 1914, just before the close of the last administration, no counsel was employed.

The officers of the Fire Department hired counsel on or about April 26, 1912, and paid him $3,325 for obtaining their increase, which was recommended by the then Mayor three days after the counsel was employed. The counsel stated that he had been working for the officers for some time and that it was tacitly understood that he would be paid by them.

3. Demoralization in the Department.

Notwithstanding the much smaller payments for legal services in connection with salary increases in the Fire Department than in the Police Department, there was evidence of more demoralization within the Fire Department.

One fact which strongly illustrates this is the action of the Russell Fire Club, composed of privates of the Fire Department. In their records of January 13, 1910, was found a motion to the effect that for the "affair" in charge of one of the members the sum of $400 be paid to that member. That this appropriation of $400 did not go through was solely due to the refusal of the president to sign the cheque unless he knew to whom and for what purpose the money eventually was to be paid. The commission finds evidence to warrant the belief that the $400 was to be used improperly to obtain the interest of some unknown person to have an ordinance enacted which would give extra time for meals to the members of the Fire Department. Because the books of account were burned and the witnesses made untruthful statements or testified "I forget," "I don't remember," or "I do not recall," the commission is forced to believe that the "affair" which was to cost $400 was apparently in direct violation of law.

In the opinion of the Finance Commission the employment of counsel by the men in the Fire Department for increases in salaries is as much to be avoided as is similar employment in the Police Department. The commission is convinced that the attempt to pay $400 for unknown services by the Russell Fire Club should be further investigated by the present Fire Commissioner and also by the Police Commissioner, as one of the men who testified is at present connected with the Police Department.

The testimony of the various persons, members of the Fire and the Police Departments, affected is hereto annexed and made a part of this report for the guidance of the Fire Commissioner and the Police Commissioner.

The Finance Commission has refrained from making any recommendation as to what action should be taken by these officials, believing that the evidence is so convincing that it speaks for itself. As compared with the frankness of certain members of the Russell Fire Club, notably the president and secretary of the club in 1910, the remarkable forgetfulness of those actually in charge of the $400 "affair" leaves a strong impression that their testimony was untruthful.

III. THE PENAL INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

1. Retaining Counsel.

The officers of the Penal Institutions Department, following the example of the Police and Fire Departments, employed counsel who received a retainer of $100 and an agreement to pay him the first month's increase, which would have amounted to $757 more. The counsel waited on the Mayor, and later a graded system of salaries was instituted. Immediately afterwards certain individual officers received additional increases of pay outside of the graded scale. The men who agreed to pay their first month's increase refused to do so, with the exception of four, claiming that their increases had been received through the influence of their union, rather than through the lawyer employed.

2. Conclusions of the Commission as to the Penal Institutions Department.

The employment of counsel by the Penal Institutions Department should be avoided, as in the case of other departments. The increase of the individual salaries of certain men after the graded increases had been granted was indefensible from an executive point of view and seems to have had an unsettling effect upon the department as a whole.

While the members of the Police, Fire and Penal Institutions Departments are to be criticised for retaining counsel and agreeing to pay such large fees in purely departmental matters, it is to be said in their justification that the employment of counsel was known to the then Mayor and the heads of their respective departments, and that these officials did not object.

IV. RECOMMENDATIONS.

The commission recommends:

1. That increases of salary should be considered at the beginning of the fiscal year, and should be provided for in the budget, and not be made a matter of maneuvering at the close of one administration or near the end of a fiscal year, so as to embarrass the succeeding administration.

2. That the effect of using outside influence, as shown in the furtive and apparently unlawful means of effecting changes in the attempted appropriation of $400 by the Russell Fire Club of the Fire Department for the purpose of changing the meal hours, should be referred to the Fire and Police Commissioners for further inquiry and for action on their part.

3. That the Mayor take such action as is necessary to prevent the employment of counsel in the future on matters that are within the province of the Mayor and the heads of departments on one side and the men on the other to settle, except in the case of hearings on charges, etc.

4. That rule 5, paragraph 3, of the Police Department Regulations, which states that "Members of the force desiring promotion, transfers or assignments to particular duties are free to make their desires known through the proper channels; and at suitable times members in person will be received by the commissioner at his office. But should a member cause a person not his superior in the force to intervene or to make representation in his behalf to the commissioner or to any superior officer, personally, or by letter, or by petition, he shall be deemed guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer," be so amended as to prevent the employment of counsel in departmental matters, between the Mayor, the Police Commissioner and the members of the force.

5. That in all departments a rule, whether existing now or not, permitting the men to interview the head of the department on any question of grievance, should be made a reality. Grievance committees of the men and the men individually should be welcome at all times to lay their requests and grievances before the heads of the several departments and the Mayor.

BOSTON, April 8, 1914.

To the Honorable the House of Representatives:

GENTLEMEN,—The Finance Commission of the City of Boston would respectfully call your attention to objections to the passage of House Bill No. 2384, entitled "An act relative to the fire departments of cities of 50,000 or more inhabitants." Its passage would injure financially the City of Boston. It is estimated that it would increase the present taxes $450,000 the first year and that at the end of five years the annual increase would be $750,000. For this amount of money expended there would be no corresponding benefit. It is the opinion of those who have made a study of the question that the Fire Department would lose in efficiency, rather than increase.

A further addition to the taxes of the city would be injurious both industrially and commercially and place an unnecessary burden upon the taxpayers. If Boston's best interests are to be served it should be exempt from the provisions of this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN R. MURPHY,
Chairman.

BOSTON, April 9, 1914.

To the Honorable the Committee on Public Service:

GENTLEMEN,—The Finance Commission desires to call your attention to House Bill 1840, relative to the custody and control of the Suffolk County Court House. By chapter 453 of the Acts of 1894 the care, custody and control of the Suffolk County Court House is placed in the justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, who are authorized to appoint a custodian and other officers, and determine their term of service. The justices have the further power of fixing the compensation of these appointees and may remove them. At the present time the sheriff of Suffolk County acts as custodian of the courthouse, but for this work receives no salary.

While the officers and employees of the courthouse are appointed by the justices, they are under the control of the custodian, Sheriff Quinn. The justices of the Supreme Court have made no complaint about the onerous duties placed upon them in the care, custody and control of the courthouse, and there is no valid or logical reason for the passage of the proposed bill which takes the power from the justices of the Supreme Court and places it in the hands of the sheriff. It means extra expense and no gain in efficiency if the change is made.

The Finance Commission wishes to be recorded as opposed to the passage of the bill.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN R. MURPHY,
Chairman.

BOSTON, April 9, 1914.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Your attention is respectfully called to the provisions of chapter 240 of the Acts of 1914, which has been passed by both branches of the Legislature, has been signed by the Governor, and requires only its acceptance by the City Council and the approval of the Mayor to become effective.

The act provides that the city is authorized "to undertake such work for the improvement and development of that part of Dorchester bay known as Old Harbor as is defined in plan one of the report of the State Board of Health and the directors of the port of Boston to the general court in accordance with chapter 133 of the resolves of the year 1912."

The joint Board in its report appears to go beyond the instructions outlined by the Resolves of 1912, chapter 133. This resolve seems to confine the Board to an investigation of the advisability and cost of so improving the shore of Dorchester bay as to prevent the nuisance now existing on account of the dump at this place. The Board not only reported a method of abating the nuisance existing on account of the dump, but has gone further and reported a scheme for improving the entire shore of Old Harbor as a parkway. The plan which the Board outlined is estimated to cost $578,806, and in addition it will be necessary to change the sewer system so as to separate the storm water from the house sewage throughout the South Boston district. No accurate estimate of the cost of this additional work has been made, but the joint Board considered that it would exceed $1,000,000.

It would therefore seem that the adoption of the act may commit the city to an expenditure in excess of $1,600,000, although it is doubtful if the method recommended by the joint Board is the best to accomplish the purpose.

A plan has been prepared by the engineers of the Sewer Division of the Public Works Department which would be less costly and may be more effective in abating the nuisance than the plan proposed by the joint Board. The plan of the Public Works Department engineers would also abate the nuisance caused by the pollution in the South bay on account of the sewer overflows near Massachusetts avenue.

The bill is permissive and requires acceptance by the City Council and the approval of the Mayor, and yet it does not give the city any authority which it does not already possess.

The Finance Commission is of the opinion that no action is necessary at the present time on the part of the City Council and that no action should be taken regarding the improvement of Old Harbor until a complete study of the problem has been made by the engineers representing the City of Boston.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,

Chairman.

COLLECTION OF REFUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 27, 1914.
To the City Council:

In compliance with the order of your honorable body, passed March 9, 1914, I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Public Works relative to the compliance of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company with their contract, and to the work being done to better conditions obtaining in connection with the collection of refuse.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
March 23, 1914.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

In reply to attached order of the City Council, I will say that the contract for the disposal of city waste material by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company is not being complied with, in that waste material containing garbage is being dumped. The contract reads, on page 33, Article (c):

"In no case will the dumping of garbage or refuse containing any mixture of garbage be allowed."

The company contends that the city should see to it that the garbage should be delivered to the company separated from all other refuse. In compliance with the Revised Ordinances of 1898, chapter 47, section 14:

"No person shall keep in his house, or on his land, any house offal, unless the same is placed in a suitable vessel, free from ashes and other refuse matter, and so placed as to be easily removed."

On page 26 of the contract the method of collection is described. It further states that "the city . . . will secure as complete a separation of materials as it may find to be practicable, but any failure on the part of householders or others to separate refuse, from whatever cause arising, shall not be held to justify the contractor's default in fulfilling any of the requirements of the contract."

A census is now being taken of the families in the district where the ordinances are being most generally violated, and it is found that over 90 per cent of the families do not even possess a garbage can. The names of these people who do not possess garbage cans, and make no attempt to carry out the ordinances for separation, have been forwarded to the Board of Health for its legal action.

In view of the conditions the Boston Development and Sanitary Company has agreed to furnish every family not able to purchase the same with an individual garbage can, free of charge, provided the owners of the property will furnish large garbage cans into which the individual cans may be emptied.

If the ordinance requiring the separation of garbage from other waste material were strictly complied with by the householders, no nuisance would be created by the Boston Development and Sanitary Company at its dump in East Boston.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Placed on file.

PLAYGROUND, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 27, 1914.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith communication received from the chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the Park and Recreation Department relative to the advisability of taking a parcel of land for playground purposes in the vicinity of Swift and Bennington streets, East Boston.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park and Recreation Department,
March 23, 1914.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to the inclosed order of the City Council, relative to the advisability of taking a parcel of land for playground purposes in the vicinity of Swift and Bennington streets, East Boston, I would say that the Park and Recreation Department now maintains three playgrounds in East Boston:

Cottage Street Playground, which contains 3.85 acres, was taken in 1902 and developed at a cost of $55,750 for land and construction. It contains a corner with swings and tilts, and small apparatus for children, in addition to the baseball grounds and area for play used by the older people.

Orient Heights Playground, an area of 8.31 acres, of which 5.24 acres is available for play and recreation purposes, was taken in 1909, and cost the city $36,139.02 for land and development.

Paris Street Playground, containing 1.27 acres, was taken in 1912 for a children's playground, at a cost up to the present time for land and development of $55,619.14.

In view of the fact that the location in the vicinity of Swift and Bennington streets is within half a mile of Wood Island Park, which contains about 55 acres of land developed for recreation purposes at a cost of $408,146.93, we do not deem it advisable to burden the city with the expense of purchasing, developing and maintaining another playground in East Boston.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN H. DILLON, Chairman.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

QUARANTINE REGULATIONS.

The following was received:

Boston Fish Bureau,
April 4, 1914.

To the Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen,—At a meeting of the members of the Boston Fish Bureau held yesterday, which organization represents the handlers of fresh and perishable fish coming to this port, it was unanimously voted to protest against any change in the quarantine regulations from local to federal control.

From what we can learn, under the control of the Federal Government there would be delays by holding vessels at quarantine which would cause serious loss and be a detriment in the handling of these perishable goods.

It is important that all steamers should be allowed to proceed immediately to their docks at all times as in the present case. Unless this is done it would disarrange the present schedules of the steamship lines coming to this port from the provinces of Canada to which we refer particularly at the present time.

We trust that you will consider this petition, and that you will keep the service at the present time. Very truly yours,

GEORGE E. WILLEY, President, per F. F. DIMICK, Secretary.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

The following was received:

Boston Chamber of Commerce,
April 6, 1914.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I inclose herewith a copy of a report (submitted to-day by the Committee on Maritime Affairs to the Chamber's Executive Committee, and approved by it) expressing the opinion that the City of Boston should continue to administer the quarantine laws at this port and bear the next expense involved as a reasonable contribution towards promoting and advancing the prosperity of this port in which we are all so much interested.

I also send you herewith a petition signed by all the steamship companies using this port protesting against the transfer of the quarantine service to the United States Government, and requesting a hearing.

The Chamber respectfully requests that the representatives of the steamships using this port be given an opportunity to be heard before your honorable body reaches a decision in regard to the matter.

Respectfully yours,
J. RANDOLPH COOLIDGE, Jr., President.

April 3, 1914.

To the Executive Committee and Board of Directors:

The Committee on Maritime Affairs has considered the proposal to transfer the administration of the quarantine service for the Port of Boston from civic to federal control and the accompanying protest against the proposed change, signed by representatives of practically every steamship line using the Port of Boston.

Boston Quarantine Service.

The Boston Quarantine Station is conducted under the direct supervision of the local Board of Health. The present service is the development of years of close attention and careful study not only of the requirements of the port and the City of Boston, but its rules and regulations were formed after frequent and regular interchange of experiences with the federal authorities at Washington. The committee has been unable to learn of any instance, either in this state or in any of the western states, where epidemics have been chargeable to inefficiency at the Boston Quarantine Station.

The expense to the city for the maintenance of this service is shown by the following figures:

YEAR.	Expense.	Income.
1907.....	$36,613 32	$5,184 00
1908.....	25,885 01	6,612 00
1909.....	24,123 13	8,857 87
1910.....	22,732 97	5,125 00
1911.....	45,774 09	11,266 73
1912.....	{ 27,848 34 * 15,000 00 }	10,952 26
1913.....	26,965 49	8,037 25

*Extra expense for rebuilding the steamer "Vigilant."

These figures show that the cost is not at all excessive in comparison with the service rendered. The increase in 1911, as explained by the Board, was required "to enlarge the facilities at quarantine for the reception, examination and care of a very much larger number of immigrants arriving from cholera-infected ports, all of which had to be met in a great hurry."

The Quarantine Station is located on Gallop's Island. In addition to its use for this purpose the island has been extensively used for housing contagious diseases from the city, given over to the care of the Board of Health on account of lack of sufficient accommodations at the City Hospital. On some occasions the expense of maintaining these city patients has been about one-half of the total expense of quarantine. In 1907 $18,000 was expended in the care of patients so transferred.

In considering the proposed change, it is to be noted that the transfer of the Boston station to the Federal Government would include the plant on Gallop's Island. This would require the city to find some other place for contagious cases which cannot be cared for at the City Hospital. It should be remembered also that once the United States assumes control, appropriations for the extension and development of the station in Boston will be subject to the disposition of Congress, and not to persons having the interests of this port directly at heart.

Present Service Entirely Satisfactory.

It is noteworthy that the two largest passenger ports in the entire country, New York and Boston, which handle about 90 per cent of the immigrant traffic, are both under local civic control.

The transfer from local to federal control having been recently made in New Orleans and San Francisco, your committee sought information as to the effect of the change. San Francisco advised that there had been "no complaints of the station as it has been conducted other than that the quarters are not adequate for the business of the port." New Orleans replied that while no evidence of unsatisfactory service on the part of the federal quarantine could be shown, the impression was "that it would be more satisfactory were it under the control of the State Board of Health."

About a year ago when the committee had this same matter under consideration it invited the United States Bureau of Public Health to send a representative to Boston to explain the advantages of federal control of the quarantine service. These were explained to be those resulting from a uniform system throughout the country, and because under it every port gets the advantages of all investigations, experiments and experiences of the Marine Hospital Service. For these reasons the government is always ready to take over the local station under the act of Congress making provision for such transfers, although no active campaign has been undertaken to bring this about.

The representative of the Federal Bureau examined the station at Boston and found it well conducted and up to requirements in every respect.

Marine Interests Strongly Oppose the Transfer to Federal Control.

No stronger argument for the retention of the present service could be presented than the petition which has been submitted to the Chamber signed by practically every steamship line entering the Port of Boston, protesting against the proposed transfer to federal control.

The fact that the Federal Government operates its quarantine station without expense to vessel owners, whereas the City of Boston charges a fee for the same service is not of consequence, inasmuch as the owners have expressed this preference for the control, notwithstanding the expense to them.

Your committee interviewed many of the steamship officials and found them to be entirely satisfied with the local service, and very much opposed to its being put under federal control. At present, if any unusual situation arises, the chairman of the Board of Health can at once be consulted and a decision reached without delay to incoming vessels. The steamship companies fear that under federal control cases may arise which the local head cannot decide without instructions from Washington, in securing which there is likely to be considerable delay.

Conclusion.

The committee is very strongly of the opinion, in view of the efforts which are being put forth to build up the commerce of the port and to increase its facilities, that nothing should be done at this time which will interfere with its development, or make it more difficult for the steamship companies to conduct their business.

The Commonwealth has appropriated $9,000,000 for the development of the port. It is not unreasonable to ask that the city show its interest in the port and its willingness to give tangible help in developing it by agreeing to assume the small expense in connection with the maintenance of the quarantine service, averaging approximately $18,000 net per year.

The committee recommends that the Chamber strongly oppose the proposal to transfer the quarantine service to the Federal Government, and that it ask the City Council, before taking action on the matter, to give the marine interests an opportunity to lay their views before that body.

LIGHTING CONTRACT.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Whereas, His Honor the Mayor and the Commissioner of Public Works have signed a contract with the Boston Consolidated Gaslight Company to supply gas and maintain certain street lights for a period of ten years, which contract is now before the City Council for approval; and

Whereas, Another company, presumably responsible, has offered a bid for the same work at a lower figure; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the opinion of the City Council, in order that the members may properly consider the contracts, that it be Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to order the Commissioner of Public Works to call upon the company which makes the lowest bid to equip and demonstrate, without expense to the city, enough lights for the purpose of allowing the members of the Council to judge as to the practicability of the same.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, my purpose in introducing the order just read is to allow the members of this body an opportunity to see in working order the light of the new company. It will prove to the Council that they are responsible and are not a fly-by-night organization. I don't know whether or not they are responsible; I haven't inquired. But I do know that if we are going to pass upon a contract involving over $2,000,000 for lights and another bid has been made which means a saving of approximately $137,000 in ten years, and those lights are as good or perhaps better than the present lights or the lights which the company making the highest bid will install, we ought to see the thing worked out. We cannot travel to different points, because the charter prohibits our going. We can go, of course, at our own expense, but that is out of the question as far as I am concerned, and, I presume, as far as many other members are concerned. I, for one, would like to know whether or not the concern that offers to furnish light for one dollar and some odd cents per light cheaper per year and to put up a suitable bond guaranty, is a practical company and is all right. There is just one way in which I can see that. True, it can be shown to me on paper and by letter, and so forth, but that is no information for me. I would rather see it in actual working order. It may be that the company cannot erect and equip the number of lights for our benefit that it says it can, but I think it ought to be given an opportunity to demonstrate what it can do. If it is a genuine, responsible concern, it can do it; if not, it cannot do it. If it cannot do it, of course we can only consider the one bid apart from that company that has been made, the contract submitted by his Honor the Mayor with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. If it is true, however, that the concern whose name has slipped my mind now can save the city $13,000 a year over the Consolidated Gas Company's bid and can save $130,000 in ten years, we are in duty bound to take advantage of that opportunity. Perhaps we might be able to have the matter reopened and have the Mayor consider the advisability of accepting the other bid or giving the other company an opportunity to bid. I want to see whether or not this concern has a light that will properly light our streets, as is claimed. I would like to see it working side by side with the Consolidated Lighting Equipment. There is only just one way by which we can have that and that is by having the Mayor instruct the Superintendent of Public Works to ask the new company to install a sufficient number of public lights for us to see the thing in a proper way, to view it ourselves. I presume this will be referred to the Executive Committee. I hope it will be reported back to-day for passage.

The preamble and resolution were referred to the Executive Committee.

CLAIMS.

President BALLANTYNE, for the Committee on Claims, submitted a report on petition of Mrs. Margaret Hartford (referred to-day) for compensation for loss of fowls killed by dogs—recommending the passage of the following:

AMENDMENT TO RULES.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Rules, submitted a report on order (referred to-day) to amend Rule 30, relative to expense of committees—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the question came on adopting the amendment to Rule 30.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would like to ask the chairman of the Committee on Rules when that matter was considered.

Coun. KENNY—It was considered by the Committee on Rules this afternoon.

Coun. COULTHURST—Mr. President, I would like to ask what the necessity of the amendment is at this time, what emergency has arisen to require action on this matter at this time.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, the Council each year has an appropriation for incidental expenses, usually $25,000. Of course, the Council is responsible for the expenditure of that money. This year I understand it is only $20,000. I believe that for several years at least the appropriation has been exceeded. In order that the Council may control that appropriation it seems proper that the Council should control expenditures by committees and that committees desiring to expend money should come to the Council, the members of which are responsible for the money appropriated, to get authority. In other words, this takes from the committees the right to spend money carte blanche. Many times a committee might wish to spend money when the Council would not be in accord with it in the matter, and this is for the protection of all the members of the Council.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. Chairman, I wish to say that I labored under a misapprehension. I thought the entire Council was on the Committee on Rules and instead of that I find there are only three members.

The amendment was adopted.

Coun. BALLANTYNE, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following:

DISPOSAL OF REFUSE.

Coun. COULTHURST offered the following: Whereas, The Commissioner of Public Works in a communication to the Mayor dated March 23, 1914, which is on file in the City Clerk's office, states that chapter 47, section 14, of the Revised Ordinances of 1898, is violated by certain householders to a very considerable extent; and

Whereas, It appears in said communication that the failure of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company to comply with its contract with the city in separating garbage from other refuse so that no garbage be deposited at its dump in East Boston is due in whole or part to the failure of the said householders to put their garbage and other refuse separate; it is hereby Ordered, That the Board of Health, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to inform the City Council as to what steps they have taken, or contemplate, to enforce the said ordinance, or what reason there is for failure on the part of said Board to cause householders to live up to the terms of the said ordinance.

Coun. COULTHURST—Mr. President, this order is introduced as the result of a communication from Commissioner Rourke, dated March 23, 1914, in answer to an order that we passed on March 9 of this year, requesting him to explain why the Boston Development and Sanitary Company was not living up to its contract and why it was creating a nuisance at its dump in East Boston. It appears that the failure of the company to live up to its agreement is due in no small part to the fact that householders here in the city do not separate their house offal from other refuse, although we have an ordinance with penalty attached that requires such action to be taken. It seems to me that that is a condition that should not continue, to have an ordinance on record and not complied with. The Board of Health is the department of the city that ought to compel that ordinance to be lived up to. Of course, we cannot compel the Board of Health to take action in the matter, but we can, under the charter, require them to come and explain to us what reasons they have for not compelling people to live up to the terms of this ordinance. I trust that the order will be passed to-day, because it seems to be in accordance with the sentiment of the Executive Committee as expressed in session several weeks ago.

The preambles and order were passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

On motion of Coun. KENNY the Council refused a general reconsideration of all action taken to-day.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. COLLINS, at 4.40 p. m., to meet on Monday, April 13, at 3 p. m.

REPORT OF DISTRIBUTION OF CHILDREN BETWEEN FOURTEEN AND SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE.

A report was received from the Superintendent, under date of Apr. 6, 1914, of the result of a study just completed of the distribution of Boston children between fourteen and sixteen years of age, which statement has been made after a thorough canvass rather than on a general calculation based on relatively limited information. By this study it appears evident that the number of Boston children between fourteen and sixteen years of age who are attending school somewhere is at least 20 per cent. greater than has been generally estimated. The general conclusion reached from investigation in other large cities and from state-wide studies and reports hitherto made in Massachusetts and elsewhere has been that about 50 per cent. of all children of this age are in school and that about 50 per cent. are out of school. It appears from this report that 70.4 per cent. of all Boston chilchildren of this age are in school and only 29.6 per cent. are out of school.

It was further reported that the new child labor law did not cause loss of employment to an excessive number of children in Boston and that in so far as it had any effect it resulted in returning to or keeping in the schools about 800 children.

Placed on file, and a copy ordered to be transmitted to each member of the Board.

The communication was placed on file, and it was ORDERED, That the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners be requested to provide other accommodations for an additional class in the Hancock District by renting another room in the Moon-street School-house or elsewhere, and thus avoid the placing of a portable building in the yard of the Hancock School.

A communication was received from the Director of School Hygiene, under date of Apr. 4, 1914, presenting a report on room temperature and open windows in elementary schools for the month of March, 1914.

Placed on file.

A communication was received from the Director of School Hygiene and the Schoolhouse Custodian, who were instructed at the meeting of Mar. 16, 1914 (see p. 29), to confer regarding rooms reported as having an excessively low temperature with windows closed, and an excessively high temperature with windows open, reporting that they have visited many school buildings and have been particularly impressed with the eagerness on the part of the principal, room teacher, and janitor, to follow out the wishes and instructions of the Committee relative to open windows and class-room temperature, and they feel that much progress toward bettering class-room conditions is being made; they further stated that they found a general acceptance of the suggestions of the School Committee at its meeting on Mar. 16, 1914, namely, that principals appoint class-room monitors for recording daily the room temperature and for the care of windows.

Placed on file, and a copy of the report ordered to be transmitted to Mr. Lee.

OPEN AIR CLASSES IN PARKS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Director of School Hygiene be requested to make a report with regard to progress made in establishing open-air classes in parks in accordance with his report submitted at the meeting of the Board held on Sept. 8, 1913 (see p. 131).

REPORT OF TRIAL BOARD.

A report was received from the Trial Board, to whom was referred at the meeting of Jan. 19, 1914 (see p. 227), a report of the Schoolhouse Custodian that because of low water in the boiler of the Robert Swan School-house on Thetford street, Dorchester, school was dismissed on that day: the Board reports that it appears that there were really two separate and distinct accidents, one of which occurred on the night of Friday, January 16, and the other on Sunday night and Monday morning, January 18 and 19. In the first instance, the return pipe was frozen during an extremely cold spell of weather, which prevented the water from returning to the boiler, and caused the melting of the fusible plug, the expense of the damage being approximately $15.

The Trial Board is of the opinion that the janitor, Edward J. Powers, was negligent in not taking sufficient precautions to prevent this damage for which he should be held responsible, but on account of the good judgment used by him on discovering the accident, is of the opinion that the penalty to be imposed should be much less than it would otherwise recommend.

Without personally examining the repairs made, although the janitor claims the workman advised him that the boiler was in proper condition, the janitor started a new fire, and on Monday morning, January 19, found a dry boiler, the valve having been closed, and the consequent melting of the fusible plug a second time. The janitor immediately drew his fire with the intention of waiting until the metal cooled and ascertaining the extent of damage; just at this time, the workman, who had been engaged in making the repairs, entered the boiler room, and without the knowledge or permission of the janitor went to the rear of the boiler room and opened the return valve, thus admitting cold water to the boiler and cracking several sections, the extent of damage being about two hundred dollars ($200), this amount being arrived at by deducting the estimated expense of repairing the first accident, amounting to fifteen dollars ($15), from the total cost of repairs, which is stated by the Schoolhouse Commission to have been two hundred nineteen dollars twenty-four cents ($219.24).

The Trial Board is of the opinion that the janitor should be held responsible for the closed valve, the dry boiler, the melted fusible plug, and probably for the burned section or sections of the boiler; but, under the circumstances, should not be held responsible for the cracked sections of the boiler which were damaged by the action of the workman in opening the return valve.

The Trial Board respectfully submits the following recommendations:—

That a penalty of twenty-five dollars ($25) be assessed against the janitor, and that a deduction at the rate of two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per week be made from his compensation for ten consecutive weeks, and that he be declared ineligible for promotion for one year beginning Jan. 19, 1914.

That a copy of this report and recommendations be transmitted to the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners, and that the attention of that Board be called especially to that part of the report which relates to the workman employed by the contractor engaged to make repairs to the heating apparatus of the Robert Swan School-house in consequence of these accidents.

Placed on file, and the recommendations adopted.

C., from 1818 to 1830, where he designed the United States Capitol, prominent in civic affairs in Boston, serving as Selectman twenty-five years, twenty-one of which were as chairman, during which time the town made such progress that he has been called "The Great Selectman."

The plan for playground activities for the season of 1914, laid over at the meeting of Mar. 2, 1914 (see pp. 12-14), was taken up, and the Chairman appointed Messrs. Corcoran and Lee a committee to confer with the Board of Park and Recreation Commissioners with respect to co-operation with that Board in the conduct of playground activities during the season of 1914.

The request from the Head Master of the Dorchester High School submitted at the meeting of Mar. 16, 1914 (see p. 29), requesting permission to hold a Field Day and Prize Drill on the Dunbar-avenue grounds on the afternoon of Friday, May 8, 1914, or in case the weather does not permit on Friday, May 15, 1914, said Field Day to take the place of the Annual Prize Drill which is held in Mechanics Building, on which adverse action was taken at the meeting of Mar. 16, 1914, was given renewed consideration.

The Board rescinded its former action and approved said application, Mr. Corcoran voting in the negative, and Dr. Scannell not voting.

CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP CAMPAIGN.

A communication was received from George C. Morton, Chairman, New England Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign Committee, under date of Mar. 20, 1914, requesting permission to distribute among the public school pupils circulars in regard to a Campaign to keep the streets of Boston in a better and cleaner condition which is to be conducted during the week beginning May 3, 1914.

The communication from the Clean Up and Paint Up Committee was placed on file, and the Secretary was directed to notify said Committee that the Board does not believe that it is the work of children to clean streets, neither is it advisable, from the standpoint of the health of children, that they should be asked or encouraged to do work of this kind.

The Board, however, cordially approves of any movement intended to keep the city in a clean and healthful condition, and to discourage the careless deposit of rubbish in streets, alleys and yards. The Board will, therefore, endeavor to enlist the interest of the school children in this movement to insure cleaner and better city conditions, and will, through the principals of various schools, call the attention of children, during the week beginning May 3, 1914, to this movement and endeavor to impress upon their minds the importance of co-operating personally and by example in the effort to keep the city of Boston always in a neat and clean condition.

A request was received from Katherine H. Upton, President of the Roxburghe Club, for permission to place copies of posters in the schools of the Roxbury District addressed to the citizens of Roxbury containing suggestions with regard to keeping the city clean.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts; also contract for sidewalks.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Permission has been granted for the award of contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks to Beatty Construction Company. The contractor is not selected by the city, but by the abutters, and the expense of construction is divided between city and abutters.

Permission has been granted for the award of contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks to Thomas J. Hind, Incorporated.

Permission has been granted for the award of contract for construction of artificial stone sidewalks to Warren Brothers Company.

In view of the representations contained in the following communication from the Commissioner of Public Works the Mayor has approved a contract with Robert R. McNutt, Incorporated, for the tearing down of property at the corner of Avery and Washington streets, at a cost of $2,650.

April 15, 1914.

To the Mayor of Boston:

The Board of Street Commissioners have completed all the legal details for the widening of Avery street, the widening of Washington street at the corner of Avery street and the widening of Mason street. All the property has been taken care of, either by the sale of the buildings for removal or by agreement with the owners to remove them, with the exception of the Shuman Building, occupied by the Pastime Theatre, at the corner of Avery street and Washington street. The commissioners could obtain no bid for this property, and the owner refuses to take any action. It therefore becomes the duty of the Commissioner of Public Works to have this obstruction removed, and I have had bids solicited by the municipal auctioneer from various wrecking companies for removing the same, and I request your permission to award a contract therefor to the lowest bidder, Robert R. McNutt, Incorporated, for the sum of $2,650, the contractor to furnish a $10,000 bond to indemnify the city against loss and to guarantee the completion of the work by May 1, 1914. Considering the conditions, this price seems to be reasonable.

My reason for not advertising is that the time between now and May 1 is too short.

Respectfully,

L. K. ROTRKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON DAY AT PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

In response to a request by the managers of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, Mayor Curley has suggested June 17, 1915, as the day which can best be designated for appropriate ceremonies in honor of our city by Boston visitors to the exposition.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

CITY OF BOSTON.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR, April 16, 1914.

MR. HOLLIS E. COOLEY,

Chief of Special Events, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, Cal.:

DEAR SIR,—I am in receipt of your communication of recent date with reference to the designation of a day which would fittingly celebrate some event that could be appropriately celebrated by Bostonians at the Exposition in 1915, and I am most pleased to designate June 17, being the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, which marks an important epoch in the history of the republic.

Yours sincerely,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

The Mayor has addressed the following communication to Lieutenant-Colonel Craighill, U. S. A., District Officer of the Engineer Corps, Department of War, relative to the improvement of Boston Harbor:

BOSTON, April 11, 1914.

LIEUT.-COL. CRAIGHILL, U. S. A.,
United States Army, Engineer Corps,
Barristers Building, Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I have taken up with Colonel Abbott the question of a 40-foot channel for the port of Boston; also the question of Federal aid in the matter of improving channel facilities tributary to the main ship channel, and in this connection respectfully submit for your consideration certain new matter in the nature of an argument that in my opinion is deserving of consideration. I would respectfully invite your attention to the current conditions at the ports of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

In this regard you are doubtless aware that the different tariff conditions and sudden awakening of waterfront developments, under the publicity given to the Panama Canal, and owing to the marked changes in the lines of transportation that will be affected thereby, these ports have had an awakening in the matter of the use of their waterfront properties for industrial development and expansion to meet new conditions.

Many of the greatest industries of the United States, under modified conditions of trade and tariff, are now being driven to tide water in order to meet the competition thus jointly forced upon them, and in order to take advantage of the great economic conditions of having the turnover of their raw material and their produce transpire at an advantageous meeting place between the sea carrier, the barge canal boat, the domestic carrier and rail, and in your consideration of the proposal, I would suggest that these almost axiomatic conditions now precedent to trade are enormous factors to utilize in the development of a port like Boston.

Having in mind the salient conditions above noted, I would again call your attention to the situation in the ports mentioned.

First.—The port of New York by geographical situation and commercial lead, while from the viewpoint of commerce, must be considered the greatest of them all, has yet, owing to its neglect, reached this interesting epoch without either economic machinery for handling and transhipping cargoes and without lands located properly as to railroad and water, to be available for the tremendous developments of an industrial kind that we have mentioned. There is in this port, not available under any terms, lands which unite rail and water facilities. In addition, there are not one hundred acres of land procurable in the Harbor of New York at tide water at any price. Recent sales of land which can be made into waterfront land have been sold at prices ranging from $25,000 to $40,000 an acre, and when so purchased have required a fill of twenty-eight feet before they are practically available for use of sea carriers or even moderate draft.

The sale of lands to the Lehigh Valley Railroad at Bayonne, bought by this railroad for the purpose of erecting modern machinery to discharge the Chilean iron ores, destined to be taken from this port by the rail carriers of that company to the Bethlehem Steel Works at Bethlehem, Pa., is a fair sample of the uneconomic and poor substitute for rail and water facility and cargo handling, that to-day exists in the port of New York. In this case the land is purchased at enormous expense, the developments thereunder necessitating heavy investments, and the net result is that the cargoes of ore to provide for the tremendous turnover of the Bethlehem Steel Works are discharged, not to the works themselves, but into the single hand of a railroad where no competition can raise a question as to the rates of carriers for its transportation. These ores running into millions of tons a year, in order to utilize the harbor of the port of New York, must submit to the extortion of uncompetitive rates and a rail haul of one hundred odd miles, which rail haul obliterates the water rate benefit which an ideal port or even a practical commercial port should offer.

Second.—These conditions, which constitute so marked a drawback to the port of New York, are no more pronounced and no less of a deterrent to its commerce than the fact that in connection with the water frontage of this harbor there are no lands available for industrial plants, with a joint water front and rail connection, and therefore, although this port is more sought than any other for the purpose of the location of industrial plants, there is no way they can utilize these facilities except in a very moderate way by procuring lands facing the Atlantic Ocean on Staten Island, which while having deep water frontage, would nevertheless be unsafe landings for any consequential sea carrier. These plants located upon Staten Island would face the double disadvantage—either one of which would stagger any great port of the world—that the transaction of their industries is done upon an island, and are not reached by rail, and that such of them as sought to market their products in Manhattan or in the interior of the United States must float them at a great and tremendous expense, and in a primitive manner. In Long Island available lands have no direct rail connection and must float all tonnage at great cost.

CONCLUSION.

That Boston with eighty-five miles of waterfront, most of which is accessible to railroads, back of which lie hundreds of acres of procurable lands, which when reclaimed could be sold to industries at a figure much lower than any port on the Atlantic Coast—have many advantages and much land for industrial purposes not available at the port of New York. It is true, these lands, some of them, in order to be practical for use by such industries, must be reclaimed, but the acre cost of such reclamation is so small that it may be deemed a negligible factor.

That Boston benefiting by differentials, with cheap lands and their ready and reasonable adaptability to manufacturing uses, would, under the conditions and by reason of the organization proposed, be sought by such industries as we have mentioned, many of which can find no localities and are thus prevented from reaching tidewater. At the present time there are on file with the commercial bodies of New York, Newark, Jersey City and Elizabeth, over three hundred applications of industries ranging from some of the greatest in the United States down to the smaller manufacturers, and many of these applications have been on their books for some years, and which, with proper channel development, could be earned for at Boston.

The labor market which is also an incidental but highly important factor in considering the adaptability of a port to manufacture, under a New York market, is perhaps one of the worst in this country; in Boston, perhaps, the best. This factor of itself has determined in many instances the location of plants, far removed from the economies of tide-water, in order to secure this benefit.

Second.—The port of Philadelphia, by reason of its geographical location, has many disadvantages over the port of Boston, and for eastwise Southern American or Asiatic trade, is a few miles farther than the port of Boston.

Philadelphia is badly equipped for industrial extensions, where same are seeking to obtain competitive rail rates, opposed to an actual water rate; and owing to the bay and river navigation from the sea, to same offers many obstacles affecting the question of speed of delivery and movement which Boston as a port does not share. The grasp of the Pennsylvania Railroad upon the locations available to industries and sea carriers is of such a nature that much of the benefit of the water rate is absorbed by the transportation service of this carrier. In this port industrial lands are also extremely valuable and difficult of purchase, and none of them afford free and open intercourse in a competitive way with the railroad and with the sea carriers.

You will recognize that each of these points in both the ports of New York and Philadelphia present serious elemental disadvantages over what is considered a traditional tide water location, or a traditional industrial location, which claims to avail itself of competitive rail and water rates. The differential in favor of Philadelphia is on an average of 2 cents a 100 over Boston, but this apparent advantage is insignificant compared with the uneconomic exchange in the terminals of this latter port. This port presents less objection to the labor conditions than the port of New York, but its physical situation is very much below that of any port on the Atlantic coast, except perhaps the port of Baltimore. The congestion in the industrial districts of Philadelphia add another important and costly phase of the movement of either the raw material or the output of the industries.

Third.—Baltimore, with its favorable differential average of 5 cents over the port of New York and 7 cents over the port of Boston, would seem to be more in the class with Boston Harbor; but it has two very vital difficulties. The difficult access of Baltimore from the sea,—the tortuous and expensive channels necessary to the arrival at the port,—the fact that the port lines of the harbor are many and hilly, and none of them to any large extent, now lying upon deep water,—creation of channel to these lines would take large sums of money and long period of years,—thus putting these lands out of competition with the available Boston waterfront for a long period of years. Baltimore, like Philadelphia, has its waterfront in the grasp of the Pennsylvania Railroad, now the owners of the Baltimore and Ohio, and no movement seeking economy can be made in this harbor without the consent or constraint of this monopoly.

I would invite your attention to the potentialities which have created great industrial centers like Rochester, Dayton, Detroit and Los Angeles.

The advantage of a city like Boston with its great harbor over the interior cities mentioned is in no way better illustrated than by the city of Manchester, England, fifty-three miles from the sea, an inland city, contributing $50,000,000 to a private fund of $100,000,000 to build a ships' canal to that manufacturing city. Manchester was then a city of 400,000 inhabitants, having only rail connection; but it had brains, money and a knowledge of what inducements industry needs. This investment of $150,000,000, although paying very slight return upon the capital, has added to the assessable value of Manchester by the added industries alone, of $500,000,000, and about 350,000 inhabitants in twenty years.

Another instance is the city of Antwerp, located twenty-three miles from the sea, spending $125,000,000 for waterfront developments, following the initiative of the government in dredging the river, formerly only 6 to 8 feet deep, to such a depth that it would afford access to these modern works by the largest steamships. The effect on Antwerp has been extraordinary in the matter of industrial location, growth of population and general prosperity.

All the factors in these instances, enlisting hundreds of millions of dollars in aid of the growth of these cities, lie dormant in the City of Boston, only awaiting the touch of brains, organization and the proper commercial aid from Federal authorities.

Boston is prepared to do its part in the matter of supplying the organization and the brains to carry on the work necessary to make possible that character of commercial development that will place her in the forefront of the nation's leading cities.

We have organized a commercial and industrial bureau for the avowed purpose of raising a fund of a million dollars annually for industrial development. Already more than eight million of dollars in new industries have been established in Boston in the short period of eight weeks. Two steamship lines are now in process of organization, prepared to take advantage of the splendid opportunities that become available through the opening of the Panama Canal and we respectfully urge that a survey be made looking to an appropriation on a sufficiently broad scale to anticipate the requirements of the port of Boston for at least fifty years.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

A Vacation Assembly and Teachers' Camp is conducted by the Bureau of Education at the summer capital in Baguio during the latter part of April and the month of May. So far as possible all appointments as teachers are made with a view to their arrival at Manila before the beginning of the school year, which requires that the appointees sail in April or the first week in May. In this way the contract period of two years expires with the school year. Later sailings are sometimes permitted, but few appointments are made during the remainder of the year.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 13, 1914.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith petition of Edward F. Smith and others for a conveyance to them by the City of Boston of certain land situated on Worcester street, together with report of Corporation Counsel thereon and accompanying order prepared by the Law Department.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Whereas, The City of Boston on the twenty-fifth day of February, 1859, entered into an agreement with Stephen Smith, of Boston, now deceased, whereby the city was to convey to said Smith a certain parcel of land on Worcester street in said Boston containing 16,283 square feet, more or less, upon payment of the sum of $3,684, at the times and in the manner set forth in said agreement; and Whereas, It appears that said consideration was long since paid by said Smith according to the terms of said agreement and that no conveyance of said land has been made by the city to said Smith or his legal representatives; it is therefore Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized in the name and behalf of the city to convey to the heirs and devisees of said Stephen Smith, and the persons holding under such heirs and devisees, according to their respective interests, the premises described in said agreement, said conveyance to be made by a deed satisfactory to the Law Department and in conformity with the terms of said agreement.

City of Boston,
Law Department, April 1, 1914.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I return herewith the petition of Edward F. Smith and others for a conveyance to them by the city of certain land on Worcester street with a brief statement of the facts in the case as I understand them.

On or about February 19, 1859, Stephen Smith, of Boston, purchased the land in question from the city for the sum of $3,684, said amount to be paid in six annual installments. In pursuance of this arrangement and in accordance with the custom usual at that time the city gave an agreement to said Smith by which it bound itself to convey the premises to him upon receipt of the full consideration, and said Smith gave a bond to the city by which he bound himself to make the payments at the times therein provided. I am informed that the treasurer's books and the receipts indorsed upon the bond show that the full consideration was paid by said Smith, the final payment having been made January 25, 1865, and he then became entitled to a deed from the city upon his request. For some unknown reason no deed apparently was ever given. Smith died about forty years ago and it is claimed that he was in possession of the premises as owner until his death, and that since that time his heirs and devisees and those holding under such heirs and devisees have been in possession and have paid all taxes assessed upon the premises.

In view of these facts there seems to be no reason why the city should not carry out its agreement by giving a proper deed to the present representatives of the Smith estate, and I therefore recommend the submission of the inclosed order to the City Council for its consideration.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

Boston, March 18, 1914.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I inclose herewith the petition of Edward F. Smith and others for a conveyance to them by the city of certain land situated on Worcester street, Boston. Will you kindly bring this matter before the City Council for action?

Respectfully yours,
WOODBURY RAND.

To the Honorable the City Council of Boston:

Represent your petitioners, the undersigned, that by a certain agreement dated February 19, 1859, a copy of which is hereto annexed marked "Exhibit A," the City of Boston covenanted and agreed, upon the performance of the condition of a certain bond of even date therewith, given by Stephen Smith to the said city, a copy of which bond is hereto annexed marked "Exhibit B," and upon satisfactory evidence exhibited to the Mayor of the said city for the time being that no claim or lien existed upon the said land for labor or materials and upon the reasonable request of the said Stephen Smith, his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, to convey in fee simple to him or them or to such person as he or they shall direct or order, a certain parcel of land on Worcester street in said Boston, more fully described in said agreement; that the condition of the bond was duly performed by said Stephen Smith, and that the bond was surrendered to him by the said city, but that during his lifetime the said Stephen Smith never made any request for such deed and that no deed was given him; that the land in question was occupied by the said Stephen Smith for many years prior to his decease in 1874, and that since his decease it has been in the occupation of his heirs and devisees and those holding under such heirs and devisees by inheritance or devise; that no deed of the said land has ever been given to such heirs and devisees or those holding under them as aforesaid by the said City of Boston; and that they as well as the said Stephen Smith have paid all taxes and charges upon it; and that no claim or lien for labor or materials exists upon it; and furthermore your petitioners represent that they are the heirs and devisees of the said Stephen Smith, and those holding under such heirs and devisees as aforesaid, and that they are the only persons entitled to a conveyance of the said land.

Wherefore your petitioners pray that the City of Boston may be authorized and empowered to perform the terms of the said agreement, and to convey to your petitioners the said land.

MAINTENANCE OF HOSPITAL WARDS

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 13, 1914.
To the City Council:

I transmit herewith communication from the president of the Board of Trustees of the Boston City Hospital, forwarding copy of communication from the Health Department, and requesting authority for the expenditure of the sum of $10,000 for the maintenance of the Southampton wards during the epidemic of scarlet fever and other infectious diseases. I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Hospital Department, April 1, 1914.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I herewith transmit a copy of a letter received from the secretary of the Board of Health, in regard to supplies for the Southampton Street Hospital. In accordance with this letter from the Board of Health we immediately ordered the goods, on account of the urgent need. The hospital will continue to furnish general and subsistence supplies. This course was pursued by the trustees during the last scarlet fever epidemic in 1908, when the Hon. George A. Hibbard was Mayor. He set aside for this special purpose $10,000 to draw against, so as not to interfere with the regular appropriation for maintenance of the main hospital. This sum enabled the trustees to carry the Southampton wards for three months, and before this sum was exhausted Mayor Hibbard promised to transfer the amount necessary while the epidemic lasted. Will your Honor, therefore, send the trustees, at your earliest convenience, an authorization for the separate maintenance of the Southampton wards, for the sum of $10,000.

The Southampton wards were opened on Saturday, March 7. On the following morning we had thirty-five patients. This number has steadily increased until to-day, when there are fifty-four patients being cared for, all of whom are doing well.

It will be gratifying for your Honor to know that the South Department and the Southampton wards will be able to take care of the present emergency.

I have the honor to be, on behalf of the trustees,

Very sincerely yours,

A. SHUMAN,
President Board of Trustees.

City of Boston,
Health Department, March 27, 1914.
Mr. Joseph P. Manning, Secretary,
City Hospital Trustees:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Health is in receipt of a requisition for the following supplies from the superintendent of the Southampton Street Hospital, and directs me to ask if these should not be furnished by the City Hospital Department, as they are for the use of the scarlet fever patients. If there is question as to which department should furnish these supplies, the Board wishes me to ask that the City Hospital Department purchase what is necessary and allow the Corporation Counsel to decide which department shall make payment.

Very truly yours,

F. H. SLACK, Secretary.

List of supplies needed:
5 dozen teaspoons; 2 dozen napkins; 4 tablecloths; 100 sheets; 100 pillow cases; 100 towels; 3 pieces of white oilcloth (each 10 yards by 2 yards).

Ordered. That the City Auditor be authorized to transfer the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) from the appropriation for Reserve Fund, when made, to the appropriation for Hospital Department, for the maintenance of the Southampton wards during the present epidemic of scarlet fever and other infectious diseases.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS — VETO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 13, 1914.
To the Honorable the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I return herewith, without my approval, the loan orders of the City Council passed April 6, 1914, appropriating $500,000 for street improvements authorized by chapter 661 of Acts of the year 1912, and the order appropriating $42,000 for the widening of Washington street between Pleasant and Warren streets.

The city's debt is so large that no loans should be authorized which are not absolutely necessary. On March 31, 1914, the net debt was $78,864,096.81, or approximately $108 per capita. Excluding the rapid transit debt the net per capita debt was approximately $78. The annual cost to the city for interest, sinking fund charges, and other debt payments, including its share of the state and metropolitan district debts, is nearly one-fourth of the total amount annually raised by taxation. The heavy drafts upon the city's revenues resulting from debt obligations incurred in the past leave an amount insufficient to provide adequately for the present. Each new increase in debt means an additional first mortgage upon our revenues and a further diminution of the funds available for actual needs. By every means in our power we should steadily reduce the debt, and thereby make available year by year the larger amounts which the growth of the city requires. I do not regard these two loan orders as necessary in themselves, or as important as other street improvements which should be made, therefore I cannot give them my approval.

Moreover, there are so many legitimate demands which should be met this year within the city's borrowing capacity that all loans of doubtful necessity must be excluded. The borrowing capacity within the debt limit was $3,283,045.91 on March 31, 1914. Prudence requires that $500,000 of this amount should be reserved for emergencies. Loans of $1,000,000 for sewers, $500,000 for land and buildings for schools, and $150,000 for the high pressure service must be provided. The usual $300,000 loan for the Street Laying-Out Department should be passed; and there should be a loan of $500,000 for the laying out and construction of streets which are now private ways, the abutters upon which have long paid taxes to the city though denied the same service as abutters upon accepted streets. The following table shows that if this program is carried out there will not be enough money left to finance the street improvements embraced in the recent orders of the City Council:

Reserve for emergencies.....	$500,000 00
Sewers.....	1,000,000 00
Schools, land and buildings.....	500,000 00
High pressure service.....	150,000 00
Laying out of streets, now private ways.....	500,000 00
Street Laying-Out Department, highways, making of.....	300,000 00
	$2,950,000 00
Balance available within borrowing capacity of $3,283,045.91.....	$333,045 91
Amount required under recent orders of the City Council.....	$542,000 00

There is also evidence that the street improvements provided in the loan orders in question have not been studied with the care that should be required. In some cases the improvements would only be a beginning, and the city would either be required to make much larger expenditures hereafter to complete these improvements or to rest content with piecemeal construction. This is shown by a comparison of the amounts allotted for the various streets named in the appropriation order for $500,000 with the amounts estimated by the Commissioner of Public Works as necessary to make such improvements in a thorough manner.

	Amounts Voted by City Council.	Estimate of Commissioner of Public Works.
Chelsea street, widening....	$100,000	$400,000
Norfolk street, widening....	100,000	100,000
Centre street, widening....	100,000	310,000
Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, widening.....	60,000	150,000
North Beacon street, widening.....	50,000	485,000
One-half cost bridge to Watertown.....		100,000
Faneuil street, widening....	50,000	235,000
Amory street, widening.....	40,000	40,000
	$500,000	$1,820,000

The experience of municipalities has shown that it is not sound financial policy to begin an improvement unless the funds necessary to complete it have been appropriated.

The order for $42,000 for the widening of Washington street, between Pleasant and Warren streets, does not meet with my approval. When the outstanding awards of damages for the taking of land for widening Pleasant street have been accepted, or litigation over the awards has been terminated, and the cost of this doubtful improvement is ascertained, it will be time enough to consider the widening of Washington street in that vicinity. The experience of the city in recent downtown improvements has not been such as to inspire the belief that the widening of Washington street at this point could be accomplished for the sum named in the order of the City Council. Until the owners of property abutting upon downtown streets for which improvements are proposed show that they are willing to assume a larger share of the burden than the owners of property on the line of the Pleasant and Avery street widenings have shown, I shall feel disinclined to sanction such improvements. The process under which the city has long suffered is substantially this: The property owners begin an agitation for a street improvement—the city authorities are led to believe that it can be effected for a reasonable amount—this amount is voted—and when the awards of damages are made by the Street Commissioners, the property owners, unless the awards are sufficiently excessive, refuse to accept them, and appeal to the courts. Then by engaging real estate experts at prices which the city cannot afford to pay, they obtain through jury verdicts amounts in excess of the Street Commissioners' awards, and far in excess of the valuations fixed by the assessors. In such cases the city is mulcted one way or the other. If the assessors' valuations were low the city has been deprived of the just amount of taxes. If the assessors' valuations were correct the property owners have deceived the jury. In either case the loss is borne by the taxpayers throughout the city. A selfish few have profited at the expense of the many. Every dollar thus paid by the city in excess of the fair amount of damages for property taken leaves a dollar less for improvements in other sections of the city. This reasoning has direct application to the proposed widening of Washington street, between Pleasant and Warren streets, and on this account and also because I believe this improvement is not absolutely necessary at the present time, I cannot give it my approval.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

DISPOSITION OF GARBAGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 13, 1914.
To the City Council:

In compliance with the vote of your honorable body on April 6, 1914, the Health Department was directed to submit a report as to what steps had been taken or contemplated to enforce the ordinance which has for its purpose the proper disposition of garbage and other refuse, and I transmit herewith report received.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Health Department, April 13, 1914.
To the Board of Health:

Gentlemen,—On the 9th of March a letter was sent from the Mayor's office to Commissioner of Public Works Louis K. Rourke, which was brought about because of a communication from the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, addressed to his Honor the Mayor on March 6. The following is a copy of the letter sent to the commissioner from the Mayor's office:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 9, 1914.
Louis K. Rourke,

Commissioner of Public Works:
Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of the inclosed communication from the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, and, if conditions are as outlined, in my opinion a recommendation should be made to the Board of Health for the enforcement of the law.

Yours sincerely,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Directly after this a conference was held between the Commissioner of Public Works and the Chairman of the Board of Health. The Health Department immediately assigned an extra police officer and two extra inspectors whose duty it was to see that separate garbage receptacles, with covers, were supplied, and they have been doing this work ever since.

After these men had been working for a few days, I called the Commissioner of Public Works on the telephone and asked him when this separate collection had been started, and what the route of the wagon was to be, so that I could follow it up and have the necessary detail taken care of. I also notified the police officer who has charge of this district to find out, if possible, when this wagon was put on and what its route was. The officer could find no trace of the wagon until April 2, 1914, when he found that garbage wagon No. 1012, with two men, was put on to collect garbage during the week commencing Monday, March 30. I again called up the Public Works Department on the telephone and asked Commissioner Rourke if he would give me, in writing, the days of the week and the route over which the collections were being made. He told me that he would have Mr. Foss supply me with the information; Mr. Foss called me up a short time afterward and said that the wagon was collecting every day all over the West End. About a week later I called up Commissioner Rourke again, and he said that he was surprised that I had not received the information, and that he would supply it to me. After a few more days of waiting, I wrote a letter to the commissioner asking for the information, in answer to which I received a reply on April 10. Copies of both letters are inclosed.

Since our men were specially assigned to the work we have had about three hundred garbage barrels supplied, but they are not being used for the purpose intended—the storage of garbage only—as ashes and rubbish are being mixed with the garbage.

The statute law of 1907, section 75, reads as follows:

"The owner of every tenement house shall provide therefor suitable, covered, water-tight receptacles satisfactory to the Board of Health, for ashes, rubbish, garbage, refuse and other matter. No person shall place ashes, rubbish, garbage, refuse or other matter in the yards, open areas or alleys connected with, or appurtenant to, any tenement house except in suitable receptacles provided for the same."

The latter part of this section says that no person shall place ashes, garbage, etc., but while the owner is compelled to furnish the receptacles, in order to secure a conviction in court as to the placing of garbage in the proper receptacle, we would be obliged to have direct evidence that a certain person placed it in a receptacle other than which it should be placed in. In order to do this it would be necessary to have an inspector or police officer stationed at every garbage barrel in this section of the city. It can readily be seen that after all these years of one collection of mixed substances, it will be a very difficult matter to bring about a separation. I have repeatedly consulted the different Corporation Counsels (Messrs. Bailey, Babson and Corbett) in regard to prosecutions under this law and have always received the same answer—that it would be an utter impossibility to prosecute unless we had direct evidence as to the persons concerned in the placing of mixed substances in these receptacles.

The first knowledge that we had that the Boston Development and Sanitary Company were furnishing small cans to the different tenants to keep their individual garbage in, to be later put in the larger receptacle in the yard, was on Monday, April 6, when we were requested to detail a police officer to preserve order where the distribution was being made.

Notwithstanding the fact that we have been advised by the different Corporation Counsels that we would have to have direct evidence to secure a conviction for violation of the Act of 1907, we are going to take a number of owners into court under the ordinances of the city for the keeping and the mixing of ashes and garbage near buildings of which they are the owners, and we propose to let the court decide whether or not a conviction can be obtained. If the court sustains the Board of Health in these actions, it is possible that we may be assured of the cooperation of property owners in our efforts to have the substances properly separated.

For information I would direct your attention to the regulation of your Board stipulating what receptacles shall be satisfactory, in accordance with the provisions of the Act of 1907.

This department has for some time been distributing copies of the inclosed cards, "Help to Keep the City Clean," and we have also supplied the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, for distribution, about one thousand of these same cards.

Respectfully yours,
THOMAS JORDAN,
Chief Sanitary Inspector.

April 7, 1914.

Mr. Louis K. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works:

Dear Sir,—I am writing you in regard to the request made twice within the last two weeks over the telephone asking you to furnish me with the date on which you commenced the separate collections of ashes and garbage in the North and West Ends, and also the route of the wagon by which collection is made, and the days on which said collection is made. Will you kindly forward this to me in writing. Mr. Foss also promised to furnish me with this information, but as yet I have not received an answer to my request.

Respectfully yours,
THOMAS JORDAN,
Chief Sanitary Inspector.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
April 10, 1914.

Mr. Thomas Jordan,
Chief Sanitary Inspector, Health Department:
Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of April 7

kindly note inclosed report of Supervisor Foss, relative to separation of refuse in the North and West Ends.

Respectfully,
L. K. ROUTKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Sanitary, Street Cleaning and Oiling Services,
April 8, 1914.

To the Division Engineer, Highway Division:
Dear Sir,—Replying to the letter of the Chief Sanitary Inspector of the Board of Health regarding the new swill route in the North and West Ends, I beg to state that all the cans have not been given out in these districts as yet and those that are out have been issued in different sections, so that we have not been able to establish any definite route for the swill team, but are simply following the path of the men who have issued the cans. Probably by next week a regular route will be established. We are now giving three times a week collection to the sections where the cans have been distributed.

Respectfully,
GEORGE H. FOSS,
Supervisor Sanitary Work.

Approved.
JAMES H. SULLIVAN,
Division Engineer.

DEVELOPMENT OF OLD HARBOR.

The following was received:

Boston, April 9, 1914.
To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:
Gentlemen,—Your attention is respectfully called to the provisions of chapter 240 of the Acts of 1914, which has been passed by both branches of the Legislature, has been signed by the Governor, and requires only its acceptance by the City Council and the approval of the Mayor to become effective.

The act provides that the city is authorized "to undertake such work for the improvement and development of that part of Dorchester bay known as Old Harbor, as is defined in plan one of the report of the state board of health and the directors of the port of Boston to the general court in accordance with chapter 133 of the resolves of the year 1912."

The joint Board in its report appears to go beyond the instructions outlined by the Resolves of 1912, chapter 133. This resolve seems to confine the Board to an investigation of the advisability and cost of so improving the shore of Dorchester bay as to prevent the nuisance now existing on account of the dump at this place. The Board not only reported a method of abating the nuisance existing on account of the dump, but has gone further and reported a scheme for improving the entire shore of Old Harbor as a parkway. The plan which the Board outlined is estimated to cost $578,806, and in addition it will be necessary to change the sewer system so as to separate the storm water from the house sewage throughout the South Boston district. No accurate estimate of the cost of this additional work has been made, but the joint Board considered that it would exceed $1,000,000.

It would therefore seem that the adoption of the act may commit the city to an expenditure in excess of $1,600,000, although it is doubtful if the method recommended by the joint Board is the best to accomplish the purpose.

A plan has been prepared by the engineers of the Sewer Division of the Public Works Department which would be less costly and maybe more effective in abating the nuisance than the plan proposed by the joint Board. The plan of the Public Works Department engineers would also abate the nuisance caused by the pollution in the South bay on account of the sewer overflows near Massachusetts avenue.

The bill is permissive and requires acceptance by the City Council and the approval of the Mayor, and yet it does not give the city any authority which it does not already possess.

The Finance Commission is of the opinion that no action is necessary at the present time on the part of the City Council and that no action should be taken regarding the improvement of Old Harbor until a complete study of the problem has been made by the engineers representing the City of Boston.

Respectfully submitted,
THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by JOHN R. MURPHY,
Chairman.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. KENNY, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following:

Report on message of Mayor and ordinance (referred March 9) concerning salaries in Park and Recreation Department—recommending passage of ordinance in following new draft.

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen,
An Ordinance Concerning the Park and Recreation Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Chapter ten of the Ordinances of 1912, establishing the Park and Recreation Department, is hereby amended, as follows:

In section 1 by striking out the words "seven thousand five hundred" and inserting in place thereof the words "five thousand."

In section 11 by striking out the words "seventy-five hundred" and inserting in place thereof the words "five thousand."

By striking out section nine of said ordinance and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 9. The board shall appoint a deputy commissioner who shall receive a salary of not more than four thousand two hundred dollars and who shall devote his whole time to the work, a secretary, engineers, physicians, subordinates and employees, and define their powers and duties and fix the amount of their compensation.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the ordinance.

Coun. WATSON offered the following substitute ordinance, viz.:

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen.
An Ordinance Concerning the Park and Recreation Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston as follows:

Chapter 10 of the Ordinances of 1912, establishing the Park and Recreation Department, is hereby amended as follows:

In section 1 by striking out the words "seven thousand five hundred" and inserting in place thereof the words "not more than seven thousand five hundred."

By striking out section 9 of said ordinance and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 9. The board shall appoint a deputy commissioner, who shall receive a salary of not more than four thousand two hundred dollars and who shall devote his whole time to the work, a secretary, engineers, physicians, subordinates and employees, and define their powers and duties and fix the amount of their compensation.

The question came on substituting the ordinance offered by Coun. Watson for the ordinance reported by the committee.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. President, I do not desire to have the impression go abroad that I have any quarrel with his Honor the Mayor at this time, because I am afraid that that impression may prevail in view of the fact that I opposed him for the office which he now holds. I made up my mind when the vote was declared that he and I had a duty to perform, as well as each other member of this Council, to wit, to do the best that we possibly could in our own way for all the people of this city. And I have tried hard up to date to do that, and it is my purpose to make that effort as strongly in the future. It may be a little early for me to disagree with his Honor the Mayor in the question of his method of economy and reform, and I perhaps ought to say now that I only disagree with him at the present time in one or two particulars. Many things that he has done have met with my hearty approval. I think he intends to do the right thing. But I would be untrue to my oath of office if I sat in this body and allowed something to be done that called for concurrent action between his Honor the Mayor and this body and did not state my position plainly, if it disagreed with his, and in this particular it does. The Committee on Ordinances to-day, after a very thoughtful, and I might say searching, session, have decided by a vote of all but one in favor of amending this ordinance, to make the salary of the chairman of the Park and Recreation Department $5,000 a year, thereby striking off $2,500 from the salary as provided in the ordinance when the department was created. The gentleman who preceded the present chairman of the Park and Recreation Department was considered big enough to be approved by the Civil Service Commissioners to hold that position at a salary of $7,500 per annum, a department that spends approximately one million dollars a year and has in its charge many millions more. His Honor the Mayor saw fit to remove, I think—or at least not to reappoint—the gentleman who was the predecessor of the gentleman who now holds the office. He appointed to that office a man whom I believe—and I am only a layman—to be well fitted for the position. I think he measures up to it; I may be in error. But I understand his Honor the Mayor had a distinct understanding—this only comes to me indirectly—with the gentleman whom he named for that position that he should receive $5,000 a year. And, Mr. President, with that understanding his Honor the Mayor sent the name of the present chairman of the Park and Recreation Department to the Civil Service Commissioners for their approval or disapproval, and I don't think that his Honor the Mayor had any understanding with the Civil Service Commissioners that provided they would approve of Mr. Dillon's appointment that his salary would be but $5,000. If such an understanding was had with the Civil Service Commissioners I think they lose their right to be considered a semi-judicial body; but I doubt if that arrangement was made or even suggested to the Civil Service Commissioners. Therefore the Civil Service Commissioners were called upon to approve or disapprove of a $7,500 man for the position named—the chairman of the Park and Recreation Department—and the gentleman was confirmed or approved of by that body—the Civil Service Commissioners. Now it may be that Mr. Dillon will not average up to the point or the standard that his Honor the Mayor anticipates. I believe he will; I may be in error. But if the ordinance as amended and offered by the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances prevails, and then if his Honor the Mayor decides later that Mr. Dillon is not a man such as should be at the head of that department and he has to seek another gentleman for the position, he will not be able to secure a man who can fill that position and measure up to it for the sum, $5,000, having in mind a department that spends $1,000,000 a year and is in charge of property aggregating many millions. If his Honor the Mayor desired to get a man and pay him $7,500 or $7,000, $6,500, or $6,000, or $5,500, he would have to come to this body again to increase the pay, and then this Council would be in the position of being a party to increasing wages, as he asks us now to be a party to decreasing. If my amendment prevails it provides that the superintendent or the chairman of the Park and Recreation Department shall not receive more than $7,500. That means that if his Honor the Mayor desires he may pay the chairman of the Board $2,000, $3,000, $4,000 or $5,000, and if later it is brought to his attention and he is satisfied that Mr. Dillon is worth more than $5,000 he may increase it back provided he reduces it back to any size up to $7,500. The order introduced by the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances provides a flat $5,000—no more and no less. Now, Mr. President, the other part of my substitute order provides that the salary of the Park and Recreation deputy—one deputy—shall not be more than $4,200. The Chairman of the Committee on Ordinances recommends a cut-down to $3,500, a mandatory sum. And, Mr. President, the same argument prevails concerning the deputy as the commissioner—"not more than $4,200"—and then if his Honor the Mayor desires to reduce it, let him. I, for one, while I would help to save money as much as any other member of this Board, am not going to be a party to a reduction of the salary of any man who is earning it or worth it. If his Honor the Mayor desires that privilege he may have it, but I will not be a party to it. He has got a right to run his departments as he sees fit, but it so happens that this department is a department that is regulated by ordinance and he cannot reduce or increase the salary without the approval of the City Council. Now, Mr. President, there has been a good deal said,—and I trust this will be taken in the way that I intend it to be taken,—that we are in bad shape financially. It has gone broadcast throughout the United States, and I have commented upon this before, that Boston is practically bankrupt. It is said that we are practically bankrupt and going to the dogs. Does this Council know that Boston to-day is one of the richest cities in the United States, if not the richest? I have figures here which I desire to hand to the stenographer. I will not read them all unless the Council compels me to do so, although I desire to present them as a matter of record. The per capita average net debt of the ten largest cities of the United States shows that Boston is third lowest in the net per capita debt. The only other two cities below us in the smallness of their net per capita debts are Tacoma and Los Angeles, two small cities as compared with ours. Boston's per capita net debt is $106.42. The per capita net debt of Tacoma is $105.96; the net per capita debt of Los Angeles is $101.26. All the other cities—Omaha, Galveston, Atlantic City, New Orleans, Portland (Maine), Cincinnati and New York, and many others—are above us. Now, the assets and properties per capita for 1912 show that Boston stands first in assets and properties. The per capita value of assets and properties for Boston is $318.80. We stand first and all the other cities stand behind us. Now, Mr. President, I have many other figures here that I would like to refer to. They are prepared by Mr. Hartwell of the Statistics Department, and I guess they will stand up. I am willing to take them at their face value. And I do at this time desire to call to the attention of the Council the increase of expenditures for general purposes in the Commonwealth in the years from 1908 to 1912, inclusive, and the expenditures for general purposes by the City of Boston for the same period. And it shows—I will only read one or two—that the net debt increase for the four years of the Commonwealth is 22.95; as against that for the same period the net debt of the city is 10.95. The increase in interest charges for the city in the same period is 6.41, and for the state 14.40. Now, Mr. President, the total increase of expenditures for the four-year period mentioned in the Commonwealth is 28.73, and for the city in the same period, 16.68. Now, Mr. President, I cite these figures. I don't know what publicity they will get but they should get some publicity in some way in order to offset the prevailing opinion in this city, and beyond our borders, that we are practically bankrupt. I think that his Honor the Mayor is absolutely honest in his endeavor to lessen the debt and to economize, and I propose to help him. I believe in economy—economy with efficiency, and not economy—I was going to say filthy. That is the kind of economy we have had this spring in the matter of the treatment and care of our streets. If the condition of our streets is because of economy, then I say it is false economy, it is economy without efficiency. Now, Mr. President, if the Council will permit I would like to hand to the stenographer these figures compiled by Mr. Hartwell in order that they may be printed. If there is any objection to this I will read them all word by word, but knowing that the Council desires an early adjournment I am willing to hand them in as they are. Mr. President, I sincerely trust that my substitute order for the order offered by the chairman of the Committee on Ordinances relating to the decrease of the salary of the chairman of the Park and Recreation Department be substituted, that his Honor the Mayor be responsible for the reducing of the salaries. Why should we be a party to it? It may be wise and it may be unwise, but I think the city ought to be a good example in the matter of paying salaries to its employees. The best employee is the contented employee. If the employees receiving large salaries in the city's service are not earning their salaries we can get rid of them. It is an easy matter. And there will be many to fill their places who will earn them. But I am satisfied, having watched the workings of the charter for at least a year and a half, and the various departments, that every single employee of the city, from the highest paid official down to the scrub-women in City Hall and the county buildings, are earning every single penny they are paid. There is no loafing. I defy any man in the service, head of a department or member of this body, or any one who votes in the city, to show me where the men are not doing their eight hours a day, and the women the number of hours they are called upon to do. Again, I might perhaps see my way clear to vote to reduce this salary by ordinance, with the understanding that there should be a reduction all along the line. I have in mind the Committee on Appropriations sitting here with John R. Murphy, the chairman of the Finance Commission, appearing here, and Mr. Sullivan, who is now Corporation Counsel, who appeared at my request, and answering my questions they both told us that there had been an increase in the Finance Commission's Department of three individuals in the last month or two of Mayor Fitzgerald's administration—one man, $500, an increase of 20 per cent or more; another man, $500, and another man, $200, a total of $1,200, and I have not seen any sign of reduction there of the extravagance during the last two months of the administration of the predecessor of the present Mayor. Then, again the salaries of the captains and the deputy chiefs and the lieutenants in the Fire Department have been decreased, and the policemen have not been reduced. Of course this is not his Honor's fault, but nevertheless it is not quite fair, even though it is not his fault, to reduce the salaries of high paid officials in the Fire Department whom he can reach and then not in some way bring about a reduction of the policemen, who are just as deserving perhaps of an increase, no more or less, than the firemen, and let them stay as they are. I would like to see a standard form of reduction. I would like to see every single department put on a basis of the same standard of salary all along the line, paying one man in one department no more for the work he does than another man who does the same work in another department. Therefore I sincerely trust that the substitute order offered by me concerning the reduction of salaries by ordinance of the Park and Recreation Department chairman and deputy chairman will prevail.

SPECIAL APPROPRIATIONS MET OUT OF TAX LEVY.

The policy of paying for improvements from general income, instead of from loans, began in 1907, when surplus income of the Water Department for 1905-1907 was used to pay for extension of mains, the Finance Commission having recommended that no more loans be issued for the extension of mains.

In 1908, appropriations for street improvements out of the proceeds of the tax levy began.

The following statement shows the amounts expended on permanent improvements (not including street improvements) in the period 1909-1913:

Expenditure of Special Appropriations.

1909.....	$29,119 99
1910.....	345,041 62
1911.....	688,564 95
1912.....	* 1,922,133 77
1913.....	* 1,877,990 00

Total..... $4,862,850 33

* For objects in detail, see pages 136-139, Special Publication No. 20 of the Statistics Department, 1913.

In other words, the sum of $4,862,850.33 has been paid, in the last five fiscal years, for permanent improvements out of the tax levy—instead of issuing loans to meet the cost of such improvements.

Meanwhile the tax limit was raised from $10.50 to $10.55 in 1910, but the portion of the city tax for school expenditures has been raised from $3.19 to $3.88 in 1913, and $4.18 in the current year.

In 1900 the portion of the city tax for school expenditures was $2.07.

Of the $33,790,550.03, actual expenditures from ordinary revenue by the departments of the city in 1912-1913, taken as $1,000, $1,922,133.77, or $0,056.8838, were met out of special appropriations.

The corresponding figures for 1911-12 are as follows: Total ordinary expenditures $30,615,716 = $1,000; Expenditures from special appropriations, $688,565 = $0,022.4906.

Yet the newspapers bemoan the "desperate" financial condition of Boston.

The ordinary expenditures of Boston in 1912-1913, viz., $33,790,550, were $4,830,222 greater than in 1908-1909, showing an increase of 16.68 per cent.

In 1912 the expenditures for general purposes of the State of Massachusetts were $15,762,773.84, showing an increase from 1903 of $3,518,100.43, or 28.73 per cent.

The question came on the adoption of the substitute ordinance, which was declared rejected.

Coun. WATSON doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The roll was called and the ordinance was rejected, yeas 1, nays 6, Coun. WATSON voting yea.

The question then came on the passage of the ordinance as reported by the committee. The ordinance was passed, yeas 6, nays 1, Coun. WATSON voting nay.

(2) Report on message of Mayor and ordinance (referred March 9) relative to proceeds from sales of land and buildings other than school lands—that the ordinance ought to pass.

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

Coun. KENNY—Mr. President, in connection with the passage of the ordinance which has just been acted upon, I desire to offer a formal resolution.

Resolved, That the Corporation Counsel, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to advise the City Council as to whether or not there is any statute or statutes in conflict with the terms of the proposed ordinance concerning the disposition of the proceeds of the sales of public lands, as reported to the City Council to-day.

DEATH OF TILSON A. MEAD.

The following tribute to Tilson A. Mead was presented:—

Tilson A. Mead, master of the Chapman School District, died Apr. 4, 1914.

He was born in Hingham, Mass., February 1, 1857, and became a teacher in the schools of that town on September 1, 1876, where he remained two years. He was appointed principal of the Franklin School in East Weymouth, September 1, 1878, and principal of the Adams School in Quincy, September 1, 1879, where he remained two and one-half years. He entered the Boston service as sub-master in the Eliot District in March, 1882, and in March, 1889, was transferred to the sub-mastership of the Chapman District. He became principal of the Chapman District on March 1, 1894, in which position he continued until his death.

Of his fifty-seven years of life, thirty-eight were thus devoted to the active practice of the profession he entered upon at the age of nineteen years, and in which he steadily advanced by successive promotions to the responsible position he occupied for the last twenty years.

As an educator and administrator of a large city school, Mr. Mead was eminently successful, and his personal qualities were such as to gather about him a large circle of friends who appreciated his sterling worth as a man and as a friend. To his teachers and pupils, he was not only a leader and a guide, but also a companion and friend. His personality was of that quality which exercised a compelling influence upon those with whom he came in contact. This influence was steadily and constructively exercised in the direction of high ideals and in the making for a better type of citizenship. He was an especially able executive and in the conduct of his district he displayed those qualities of leadership which evidence a strong character. Mr. Mead was sincerely devoted to his profession and discharged the duties which were his with unfailing zeal and faithfulness.

It had been apparent to his friends for some time that Mr. Mead's health was steadily failing, but the patience and determination with which he endeavored to continue at his post could not but command admiration. The testimony of his friends and former associates to his worth at the memorial services held in the hall of the Chapman School, was ample proof of the place he had won in their hearts.

The School Committee places this tribute to Mr. Mead upon its records with full appreciation of the value of his services, and in testimony of its high regard for him as a man, and as a teacher whose faithfulness to duty never wavered during his long years of service in the public schools of the city. The Committee also extends to the members of the family of Mr. Mead its sincere sympathy in the loss they have sustained.

Adopted unanimously, and a copy ordered to be engrossed and sent to the family of Mr. Mead.

NAMING OF A NEW SCHOOL-HOUSE.

Dr. Scannell, as the Committee on Naming of School Buildings, offered the following:—

ORDERED, That the new school-house on Park street, in the Oliver Wendell Holmes District, be named the Florence Nightingale School, in honor of Florence Nightingale (1820-1910), Florentine by birth, though English by descent, from her earliest years an intense lover of Nature and animals, devoted in her adolescent years to the poor and sick of London, earnest and purposeful student of public and private institutions for the alleviation of suffering, pioneer organizer of nursing as a humane profession, indefatigable and merciful worker in the cause of the sick and wounded in the horrors of the Crimea, official consultant in the American Civil and Franco-German Wars, first to establish on a high plane training schools and homes for nurses, unquestionably the highest type of nurse of all times and all countries, an ideal in unselfishness and social service.

BOWDOIN S. PARKER,

Collector of Taxes for the City of Boston.

CITIES PROVIDE FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

The present business depression has thrown thousands of men out of employment at a time when the need of shelter, food and clothes is of greatest importance. Fully realizing that situation, many cities in a humanitarian spirit have endeavored to alleviate the distress by bringing all their efforts to bear on a solution of the problem confronting them.

In Chicago the advisability of transporting unemployed men to sections of the country where work may be expected is held under consideration by the officers of the recently formed body, the American Association of Public Employment. To assist in the objects of that association, labor commissioners of Massachusetts, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Michigan and Illinois have been called into conference. As a result, they have determined upon the advocacy of establishing public employment offices in all states and cities where they do not at present exist, and of cooperating with states for the exchange of information by labor market bulletins. Advisory committees of employers and wage earners will be appointed for impartial treatment of casual labor.

A resolution demanding that the city and county of Los Angeles jointly appropriate $1,000,000 for public work has been drawn up by that Californian city in a proposal to secure employment for 5,000 unemployed men and women. Should the resolution bear no fruit, interested civic bodies will appeal to Governor Johnson to provide state employment.

If the number of applicants at the headquarters of the municipal employment bureau, the records of the police department and statements of manufacturers and business men can be accepted as indications of the conditions in the entire city, there are more than 1,000 high-grade workmen out of employment in Chattanooga, Tenn. Not all of them are Chattanoogaans, for a large number have been attracted to that city by the wide advertisement of Chattanooga during the year and the relief obtainable from the colder climate of the north. The influx has been so large that it is at present impossible to secure work for everyone, though the municipal bureau is lending all its facilities. The city seems desirous to retain the newcomers as permanent citizens, and manufacturers as well as business men are promising jobs shortly.

Definite plans for making available the services of the unemployed in Portland, Ore., have been formulated at an informal meeting of the council, at which it was ascertained that approximately $25,000 in the park and engineering bureaus may be used for emergency work. In addition, hundreds of laborers will find employment in the water bureau in the construction of water mains. It is estimated that from 500 to 1,000 men can be given from two to three days' work each week for the next three months at the standard pay of $3 per day. Preference will be given to men with families; they will be employed at least two days a week. The unmarried men may secure from one to two days' employment. The commissioners in charge of the various departments have the necessary materials on hand and are prepared to hire deserving applicants.

The attitude of many cities of helpful cooperation in securing work for large numbers temporarily out of employment is a marked advance toward progressive municipal government that charges itself "with promoting and preserving public welfare." It is this attitude that truly seeks the "prevention of conditions militating against public welfare" by eliminating all possibilities of riot and disaster that often accompany conditions of forced idleness. From the experimental stage of municipal organization for securing employment there will undoubtedly evolve methods of permanently beneficial character.—Municipal Journal.

HOUSING IN RUSSIA.

An interesting account of the present housing situation in Russia and the agitation for better conditions was given by Mr. Alexander Bloch of St. Petersburg, at the meeting of the International Housing Congress at Scheveningen. Mr. Bloch is a member of the International Garden Cities and Town Planning Association, and prefaced his remarks by the statement that his interest in the housing problem was due in great part to the Association and to the time he spent in England studying the situation. He explained that the housing problem in Russia was a problem of overcrowding. In St. Petersburg the average number of inhabitants per house is 52, and in Moscow 28. The average number of persons to one apartment in St. Petersburg is 8 and in Moscow 8.6. In the country districts there are vast wastes containing not a single habitation, while the scattered villages are overcrowded to such an extent that a house shelters not only man, wife and children, but all the domestic animals, because it is impossible to provide separate space for them.

The solution of the Russian housing problem is greatly facilitated by the fact that the empire has great tracts of land only partly developed. Lepsnisk, a small city in Siberia, recently came to the conclusion that its location was not convenient, so it decided to move the few hundred houses which comprise the town to a more advantageous position. It owned so much land that there was no difficulty in that direction, and the town is now looking for a town-planning expert who will map out the new city on the lines of the latest methods in garden city construction.

In Moscow the Town Council held a meeting last August and decided to elaborate a large program for rehousing nearly 80,000 persons in that city. Interesting housing experiments are also being carried on in Warsaw and Riga.

One of the things which has given the greatest impetus to the housing movement in Russia is the recent translation of Ebenezer Howard's book into the Russian language.—The American City.

INAUGURAL ADDRESSES.

REPRINTS OF ADDRESSES DELIVERED BY THE MAYORS OF BOSTON AT THEIR INAUGURATION FROM THE INCORPORATION OF THE CITY.

William H. Whitmore, formerly City Registrar, and a man who delighted especially in the preservation of historical data relating to the city, started in 1890 a compilation of the inaugural addresses of the mayors of Boston. Up to that time they were available only in odd and scattered municipal documents, kept with indifferent care, or in some instances in privately printed documents.

In 1894 he produced the first volume which contained the addresses from Phillips to Bigelow. In 1896 he published a second volume, with the addresses from Chapman to Norcross. The two volumes make not only substantial but interesting reading for all citizens. Because of the fact that the volumes in question are out of print, it is proposed to reprint the addresses in occasional installments in the City Record.

No. 29.

Mayor Quincy delivered the following address to the City Council on January 4, 1847:

Gentlemen of the City Council:

There has perhaps never been a period in our municipal history when the duty imposed by the charter upon the Mayor "of communicating to both branches of the City Council all such information and recommending all such measures as may tend to the improvement of the finances, the police, health, security, cleanliness, comfort and ornament of the city," was more imperative than at present.

Within a few years our city has grown from a small to a large one, and the prognostics of its future progress are written in characters that cannot be misunderstood. It is probable that for years to come our population will increase in as great a ratio as it has for years that are past, and plans now devised or improvements commenced will have a great and permanent effect on its character and prosperity.

The present year will be distinguished from all others by the commencement within our limits of the works for the introduction of water into the city, and from the necessary breaking up of the streets, which may render it expedient to make expenditures at this time which under other circumstances might be postponed.

The progress made towards the introduction of water is a subject of so great interest that I shall make no apology for entering into details.

The water commissioners were appointed on the 5th of May. To insure a rapid prosecution of the work they divided it into two portions; the one, from the lake to the receiving reservoir in Brookline; the other, introducing the water from that reservoir to the city.

Each section was placed under the superintendence of a chief engineer. And to guard against mistakes in the plan of the work the services of a consulting engineer, from a neighboring state, of high reputation and great experience, were secured.

Ground was broken in the presence of the City Council on the 20th of August, and since that time more than 400,000 cubic yards of earth have been removed on the first division; and it is anticipated that one-half of this line will be ready for the masonry by the middle of April; and the other half, with the exception of the tunnels, before the close of the summer. These tunnels, 3,450 feet in length, are now in successful progress, the laborers being engaged upon them day and night without cessation.

In this tunneling a successful experiment has been made in the substitution of gun cotton for powder, with the great advantage of obtaining the same effect without retarding the operations by volumes of smoke after the discharge of every subterranean battery.

On the second division a like attention has been bestowed. An accurate survey has been made of the whole city,—of its various streets, and of the positions occupied by the sewers, gas pipes and aqueduct. Five thousand tons of iron pipe have been engaged to be delivered early in the spring. Contracts have been entered into for the construction of a reservoir to contain 2,000,000 gallons of water, at a height of 22 feet above the highest point of Mount Vernon street, to be completed by the first day of August, 1848.

The water will be taken in two large mains of 30 inches in diameter from the reservoir in Brookline. One of these will be carried under the Tremont road directly to Beacon Hill without being tapped by the way. The other will be laid by its side to the entrance of the city, where it will be reduced to 24 inches, giving off mains in all directions until at Bowdoin square. The series will be connected with a main of 30 inches from the reservoir on Beacon Hill. The lateral supplies are made by tapping these mains with 12 inch, and those again with smaller pipes. By this means an abundant supply will reach every part of the city. The Beacon Hill Reservoir being the main reliance of the more elevated and northern section, while the southern will be supplied directly from that in Brookline.

The commissioners are of opinion that water will be introduced for a sum not exceeding the estimates, and probably by the 20th of August, 1848—certainly before the close of that year.

Monthly reports are made of the contracts, expenditures, and progress of the work to the committee of the City Council, who, I believe, are unanimously of opinion that the enterprise has thus far been conducted with the greatest energy, skill and good judgment.

The introduction of water naturally leads to the consideration of the subject on which the charter first requires me to speak.

The city debt on the first day of January amounted to..... $1,033,766 66

The means of payment are:

Cash to the credit of committee for the reduction of the city debt.....	$254,530 20
Bonds bearing interest, 493,824 80
City wharf estimated at.....	600,000 00
	1,348,354 00
The annual interest on the debt....	53,293 33
Income arising from rent and interest.....	80,115 00

The present debt of the city is thus amply provided for, both as to principal and interest, and nothing remains but the management of the water loan.

The Water Act authorized the city to negotiate a loan or loans, amounting to $3,000,000, payable at any time within forty years from the date of the scrip. The negotiation of so large a loan in the best possible manner was a subject of difficulty and importance. Many were of opinion that on such undoubted security money could be obtained in Europe at a low rate of interest. So strong was this feeling that the Committee of Finance felt bound to endeavor to procure it there, and accordingly availed themselves of the services of William Rollins, Esq., whose mercantile knowledge and business connections with several of the great banking houses on the continent eminently fitted him for the duty. He was authorized to conclude a negotiation, provided it could be done at the rate of 4 per cent per annum; and if that were impracticable to obtain the opinion of bankers there as to the terms on which it could be effected. He spent the summer in Europe, and applied to the principal banking houses in Amsterdam, Paris and in London, but without success. From the documents he produced there could be no doubt of the security to any one who would take the trouble to inquire; but the bankers in Europe wished a stock that all acknowledged without inquiry to be good, and they feared that an American stock would not be sought for in the market. This and the great demand for money wanted for the construction of railways, and the opportunities of loaning on their bonds, absorbed the money that at other times would have been seeking this species of investment.

The result was that the money could not be obtained at a lower rate there than it can here, and then only on a long loan. This the committee considered in many respects objectionable.

The city owns lands (which, as stated in my last annual address), at a moderate price, are sufficient to pay the whole expense of the introduction of water. These lands lie in the same relation to this city, with the exception that our lands have a flourishing city beyond them that the upper part of Broadway does to the city of New York. A few years ago that part of the city was almost uninhabited. But the increase of the population, the demand of the lower part for the purposes of business, and the facilities granted by the lines of omnibuses, have carried the wealth and fashion to the extreme west. The same operation is going on here. Dwelling houses are giving way to stores; the inhabitants are compelled to remove; and this is the most natural and eligible place for them to resort to, and during the past year several houses, second for cost and magnificence to none in the city, have been erected on lands recently sold by the city.

With these resources it becomes very important to fix the time of the payment of the money we shall borrow in such a manner as to enable us to pay the debt as fast as we sell our property; and it would be better to pay even a higher rate of interest for a shorter period than to take a loan that could not be repaid until long after the time when the scrip became due. During the last three years the average sale of public lands has amounted to $300,000, and I know not why they should decrease. During the last twenty years our population has nearly doubled. The new facilities that are centering here the business of New England, and giving us a large share of that of the West, render it probable that it will be equally great for the next twenty, which would give us in 1867 a population of 230,000.

If these lands are furnished with water, gas, etc., it does not appear to me improbable that within that time they may all be sold, paying our debt and increasing by millions the taxable property of the city.

Under these circumstances I should make the water loan payable at the rate of $200,000 a year; the first to fall due in five years from the present time, at a rate of interest not exceeding 5 per cent, which I should not sell below par.

It might be difficult at the present moment while the United States are competitors in the money market to negotiate the whole loan at that rate. As our expenditures, however, will be extended over two years, we shall probably receive the money as we want it. If we should not, it would be better to make short loans at a higher rate of interest, and await the change that in the financial world always occurs for negotiating the whole.

The great object now is to introduce water at the earliest possible moment, and to pay off our debts at the earliest practicable time. The former can be effected in two, and the latter within twenty years, if the public property is wisely managed; and this naturally leads me to speak of the city lands.

These lands should, in the first place, be prepared for sale. This, to men of business, appears to be a self-evident proposition, but owing to a natural unwillingness to increase the expenditures, it has been too much the custom to sell land before the streets were graded. The result was that the expenditures subsequently made by the city enhanced the value of the land far above the cost of improvement, and the difference was lost by the city.

The lands east of Washington street will require a large amount of filling, and true economy requires that the necessary outlay should at once be made. The Council last year purchased with this view a farm at Dedham, bounding on the Providence Railroad, which by furnishing the materials for doing this work will save a very great amount to the city. The mode of effecting this will be submitted to your committees, and I recommend that a sufficient appropriation should at once be made to carry out and complete this great improvement.

In disposing of the lands I would recommend that they should be sold at reasonable prices to all who desire to build, and in other cases sales should be made only in such portions as will enhance the value of the remainder. Selling choice lots to speculators, who intend merely to hold them for a rise, has a tendency to interfere with the city sales and the rapid settlement of this property.

The necessity of opening the streets for water pipes leads me to speak of another of the great expenditures of the city.

The number of oil lamps in the city is 1,317; number of gas lamps in the city is 496. The oil is purchased by the Committee on Lamps, who always advertise for proposals. The gas is furnished at one cent an hour for each lamp, it consuming $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet.

In Philadelphia and many of the cities in Europe the city itself owns the works and furnishes both its own gas and supplies the citizens. The gas works in this city have been conducted in a manner entirely satisfactory to the public; and their agreement to submit their books to examination, and receive only a certain percentage of profit on their outlay, does away, in a great degree, the objections to their holding a monopoly of this essential convenience. Yet there are reasons that render it advisable, both on grounds of economy and as preventing any corporation from having the power of breaking up the streets that the city should own gas works. As during the present year all our streets will be taken up for water pipes, it appears to me that if it is ever expedient for the city to undertake this business it should be acted upon at the present time, and I would recommend that a commissioner be appointed to investigate the subject, and to make a report that may be the basis for the action of the Council.

The subject of the police at the present time is one of paramount importance. In addition to the increase of vice, which progresses, at least, in the same ratio with the population, railroads give a facility to the vicious and criminal, who can find no shelter in the country, to resort to a crowd where they can indulge without observation. Public and private good requires that vice, where it exists should be checked and kept under control, and that the paths that lead to destruction should be closed against the entrance of the innocent, as far as it can possibly be done. This requires an efficient police. Our appropriation for this purpose is small, when compared with our sister cities. In New York, with a population of 350,000, the appropriation for police amounts to $479,000, while our appropriation, with a population of 120,000, is only $64,000, of which $14,000 is for day and $50,000 for the night police or watchmen.

As this subject will be brought before you, on the report of the committee on the revision of the city ordinances, I will not take up your time with discussing it at present. But I cannot forbear reminding you that the efficiency of any system must depend on the men who execute it—and the police officer who, from necessity is obliged to descend into the haunts of vice, should possess a high character. To secure such men an adequate compensation must be paid.

This particularly applies to whoever is placed at the head of that department. To perform its duties well the head of the police should unite a strong intellect, the power of influencing and directing men, and great physical and moral courage. In addition to this his labors are more varied and arduous than almost any officer of the government. And if he does his duty he must expose himself to popular odium. In my opinion the salary should be increased, in such proportion as you, after a full examination of the subject, shall deem to be expedient.

Among the great expenditures of the city there is none that in amount exceeds the appropriations for widening streets. Since the 30th of April there has been paid on this account the sum of $148,209. And it is hardly an exaggeration to say that the value of the property of abutters on these streets, who have received the greater part of this amount, has been increased in addition more than the whole expenditure.

In many cities a charge of this nature is unknown. It is assumed that such improvements are for the benefit of the abutters and the neighboring estates and the whole amount is assessed upon them. This is going perhaps too far, but it does appear to me that they should pay some portion of the cost. A bill for this purpose, petitioned for by the last Council, was lost in the House; and I would recommend that an application should be again made for a law of that nature.

The crowded state of our narrow streets renders, in my opinion, some further legislation necessary on the subject of omnibuses running to the neighboring cities, which shall give to the city authorities power to regulate them as to stands and routes, and perhaps as to fares. And I should recommend that application should be made to the Legislature for a law on this subject.

Another subject which demands your attention is the burial of the dead in the city. There are reasons connected both with health, and the natural feelings of man that have caused almost all large cities to forbid interments within their limits, except under particular circumstances. In our own, no burials are made in graves.

There are in the city, including one at South Boston, not used, nine burial places, containing 933 tombs. There are six churches with cemeteries below them, containing 279 tombs—making in all 1,212 tombs.

As it respects the tombs owned by families I would suggest the propriety of preventing any bodies being deposited in them excepting members of the family, and of fixing a time after which no interment whatever should be made.

As to the tombs belonging to undertakers and others, where bodies are deposited on the payment of a fee, and where it has been the practice after a few years to remove the remains to make way for others, and thus render them a source of constant income—I recommend that it be ordained that these and all tombs when once filled shall be closed forever. This is due to the health and feelings of the living, and to the respect due to the dead.

This may in time render it necessary to provide burial places out of the city, which by charging a small fee for the rights of sepulchre could be done without expense to the city, and would at least enable the poor man, when he died, to feel that his dust was to rest in a quiet grave.

Another of the great expenditures of the city is for sewers. They are constructed by the day, under the superintendence of the head of this department, who purchases the materials and is accountable for the work. During the past five years there have been constructed 34,115 feet of drain, at a cost of $52,180.26. Of this there has been charged to the account of sewers and drains, $46,251.81; to public lands, $5,928.45; and of this there has been expended during the past two years more than $28,500.

The city now owns more than twenty miles of common sewer. By the laws of the Commonwealth one-fourth part of the cost of constructing and repairing these is assumed by the city; the remainder assessed on the estates benefitted.

If during this year the Council should direct the streets on the neck lands to be graded, I recommend that common sewers—water and gas pipes should be previously laid down. It would be found, I believe, a true economy as it regards expenditure, and tend more than anything else to the rapid sale and improvement of that property.

In this connection I would call your attention to the fact that more than 2,000 tenements deposit the contents of their sewers in the back Bay. This bay, consisting principally of stagnant water, is of itself almost a nuisance, and it cannot be long before the health of the city will demand the expenditure of a large sum to construct a drain from Roxbury line to the Milldam, sufficient for the discharge of all these sewers; and for this expenditure no return can be made by abutters.

There may, perhaps, be one alternative. In several of the cities of Europe attempts have been successfully made to collect the contents of sewers for agricultural purposes. This experiment has been made on a small scale during the past year in the Public Garden, and from the result I cannot but believe that the contents of these sewers might be converted into valuable manure, which would more than reimburse the whole cost of its collection, and which might be removed without giving the slightest offence to the inhabitants. As in such a case, the great expenditure for the sewer I have mentioned would be saved, I recommend that a committee be charged with trying the experiment on a satisfactory scale.

The difficulty of fixing on a suitable site has caused the erection of a new jail to be postponed. The general opinion seems to be that it should be placed with the other city buildings at South Boston; and this, notwithstanding the distance from the Courts of Justice is in my opinion the most eligible site that can be selected.

All the city buildings with the exception of the House of Reformation for Juvenile Offenders front upon First street. South of First street there are belonging to the city, including lands recently purchased of Mr. Homer and exclusive of streets, 1,633,718 feet of land—and to the north of First street, land and wharves, 1,080,000. If the flats were reclaimed to the extent of 100 rods there would be, in addition, 2,650,000 feet of land which would be ample both for the jail and for the additions that must be made to the House of Industry during the present year and in all time to come.

The land to the south of First street could be sold which, reimbursing the expense of the new lands, would have a tendency to cause the population, that driven from the city, now seeks the neighboring towns, to remain within our limits. Inclosing so large a space within high palisades, and devoting it to a place of confinement has had, it is thought, a tendency to prevent settlements at South Boston, which its vicinity to the city proper and the beauty of the situation would seem to induce.

The filling up of so large an amount of flats would require an expenditure which I could not recommend at the present time. But it seems to me to be wise to decide upon a prospective plan for the enlargement of the institutions at South Boston, which the increase of the city will require before erecting the jail, if it is to be placed anywhere within those limits.

There is one other subject upon which more than any other the prosperity of the city depends, to which I would call your attention. When we speak of the causes of our prosperity, and of the increase of the value of real estate, we attribute it to the facilities of communication with the interior—but what would these avail, if a narrow passage, but a few hundred yards wide, between George's and the Great Brewster, should be closed? The importance of our harbor, both to the city and to the nation, can hardly be overrated—and yet there is danger that from want of attention it may be greatly injured. An appropriation of $40,000 has several times been made for this purpose by one or the other branch of the General Government, but owing to circumstances has failed.

Composed of gravel these islands are exposed to the swell of the ocean, and their natural tendency to wash into the channel is increased by the custom of taking ballast from them, which by breaking up the surface increases the power of the waves. As a large income is derived from the sale of ballast it is not to be expected that the practice should be discontinued by the owner without an equivalent. The refusal of the Great Brewster has been given for $4,000, and I recommend that an appropriation should be made of that sum for its purchase, to be held by the city until the United States is ready to take it and erect the works upon it that are essential for the preservation of their own and the city's property.

In this connection I would again call your attention to the inner harbor and the flats near Fort Point channel. If the commissioners appointed by the Legislature should decide that these flats can be reclaimed without detriment to the harbor, it appears to me that the property in and the control over them should be placed in the city, subject to the legal and equitable rights of individuals. The City Council last year applied for a grant of them, and I recommend that a similar application should be made the present year.

Another of the great and increasing expenditures of the city is that of paving. It appears by the surveys recently made for the Water Works that there are in the city proper over sixty-two miles of streets, most of which are paved. The cost of this department for 1846 will amount to $90,000, which, subject to the Committee on Paving, is principally expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Streets, whose other duties connected with keeping the streets clean and with the internal health department, require almost all his time; and it is well worthy of your inquiry, whether economy might not be promoted by a division of this office, or by giving a portion of his duties either to a regular engineer or an approved assistant.

There are other departments of the city to which I have not time to call your particular attention.

The schools have during the year been in a satisfactory and advancing condition. The attention that has been called to them, and the differences that have existed as to the best mode of conducting them, have led to a renewed attention on the part of the masters and the pupils; and I believe this object of the deepest interest to our community was never in a more prosperous state than at present, and I doubt not under the attention now devoted to this subject they will progress until they attain to the highest degree of perfection.

As to the Fire Department no more need be said as it respects their labors and efficiency than that with 273 alarms and 147 fires the total loss by fire in the city during the past year has only been $175,114, of which $108,725 was covered by insurance.

The compensation of the firemen has been increased during the year, and I think wisely. They are constantly liable to exposure, to danger, and to a great wear and tear of clothing; and they should feel that the citizens who owe so much to their efficiency are ready to make a suitable compensation for their services. No complaints, except of trivial nature, have been made against any of the members during the year, and I know of no suggestions I can make to improve the department.

The last topic suggested by the charter, that of ornamenting the city, is not unimportant. This end will be promoted by the great work we have in progress, which will give us an opportunity to embellish our squares and public grounds with fountains, those most beautiful emblems of health and purity. We have also an inestimable treasure in the Common and the lands adjacent. In monarchies such pieces of ground are procured and ornamented at a great expense for the benefit of the people; and why should we be behind them in a republic? If any one, among the obligations we owe to that portion of the community, whose occupations or whose necessities confine them during the whole year to a city life is more imperative than another, it is to provide them with the means of obtaining some share in the glorious and beautiful aspects of nature, with which a beneficent Creator designs to minister to the physical and mental well being of his children.

Arrangements have been entered into to permit the Public Garden to be open (except on holidays, when a small fee will be required for payment of expenses), free to all.

Having the ground provided it is in our power at a very moderate expense to enable our fellow-citizens to come from the crowded and dusty streets in summer to gardens beautified with flowers, shaded with trees and sparkling with fountains. What an effect will be produced by such scenes on the moral feelings of all, particularly of the young, who never lose their affinity to nature. How much evil impulse may be stifled and how much good developed by familiarity with sources of pleasure so pure and congenial to their age.

Neither would I confine the liberality of the city to this spot. Wherever the citizens are willing to contribute for opening or ornamenting the squares in their neighborhood I should recommend that assistance should be granted on the ground that everything that renders the people better and happier strengthens the foundations of our free institutions.

I have thus, gentlemen, addressed you on the various subjects suggested by the charter, and would in conclusion congratulate you on the situation and prospects of the city. Its physical prosperity is based on the industry, thrift and enterprise of the people; its intellectual standing on its schools, libraries, literary associations and lectureships; and its moral and religious position on the faith and institutions of the Gospel. With the blessing of Heaven on such foundations we may securely rest and anticipate that for years to come, as for years that are past, it will be the abode of wealth, intellect and virtue, and that our free institutions will remain the inheritance of our children to the end of time.

MUNICIPAL PLAYGROUNDS INCREASE.

The increase in the number of playgrounds throughout this country and Canada shows the serious attention given by municipalities to recreation work. There are now 642 cities actively interested in the playgrounds movement and many others are alive to the need of establishing play centers. Formerly private philanthropy was largely relied upon, but during 1913 in 111 cities the support was entirely municipal, and in 115 cities the maintenance of playgrounds was effected by both municipal and private funds. There are still 110 cities in which work is wholly supported by private benefactors. The total expenditure for recreation work in 1913 was $5,700,000 in 342 cities where paid supervision obtained. This is a gain of $1,500,000 over 1913.—Municipal Journal.

Incident to this contract, Superintendent Manus J. Fish of the Public Buildings Department, submits the following memorandum:

"After a careful investigation and consideration of the above enumerated bids, made by Mr. Ball, inspector of purchase and supplies of the Finance Commission; Mr. Boyd, a furniture expert, employed as consulting engineer by the Finance Commission; Mr. Graham, architect of the Annex, and myself, it was decided to award this contract to the Library Bureau for the following reasons:

"We asked the two low bidders, namely, the Berger Manufacturing Company and the Library Bureau, to submit detailed drawings showing the construction they proposed to use for certain cases in this contract. The construction of the Library Bureau was superior to that of the Berger Company in this examination.

"We inspected equipments by both firms in Boston and here also the Library Bureau was superior to the Berger Manufacturing Company.

"Accordingly we concluded that the difference of $926.66 between the two bids was more than equalled by the superiority of the product of the Library Bureau over the product of the Berger Manufacturing Company."

MOTHER TONGUES OF MASSACHUSETTS.

By far the largest element among the 2,221,497 persons of foreign white stock in the State of Massachusetts in 1910 was the English and Celtic (including Irish, Scotch, or Welsh) group, according to the mother tongue bulletin which has been issued recently by Director William J. Harris of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. By mother tongue is meant the native language, or that spoken before immigration, and the report relates both to the foreign-born whites and to the so-called second generation of foreign stock. RUSSIAN MUNICIPAL ENTERPRISES.

Municipal enterprises in Russia embrace a large variety of business. Russian towns undertake the direct management of waterworks, sewerage, lighting, slaughter-houses, scavenging, dispensaries and baths, the manufacture of bricks, stone quarries, butchers' and bakers' shops, pawnshops, flour mills, the building of country roads, warehouses for wood, oil, fuel and coal, printing offices, cheap restaurants, dairies and night shelters. There are municipal banks in 285 towns.

The Russian laws encourage rather than impede towns from undertaking municipal enterprises, first, because of the absence of sufficient private capital and enterprise; and, second, because of the necessity for revenue which the towns cannot otherwise obtain owing to the restrictions on their powers of taxation. The charge for these municipal enterprises is generally a large one. The price of water ranges from 5 to 10 cents per 100 gallons; electric lighting from 14 to 18 cents per kilowatt; municipal pawnshops levy from 18 to 24 per cent on loans. The net profits derived from the municipal pawnshops for 1911 amounted to $230,000, although their nominal capital was $5,350,000.

LAYING OUT PRIVATE WAYS.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, April 22, 1914.

To the City Council:

The imperative necessity for immediate action in the matter of accepting, laying-out and constructing of streets upon which realty values have been created that are now marked "private way" must be apparent to every one and the injustice of permitting a continuance of this condition cannot in any manner be justified.

In my opinion the expenditure of $800,000, in the form of a loan within the debt limit for "Highways, Making Of," or, in other words, transferring from private to public custody a percentage of the streets now marked "private way" is warranted. I accordingly recommend to your honorable body the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000) be and hereby is appropriated for Highways, Making Of, under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906; and that to meet such appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Report accepted and the question came on the passage of the bill as reported.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, just a word. It is very fortunate that we have the opinion of the Corporation Counsel that this Council has the power to increase appropriations provided his Honor the Mayor approves. I know that that word "approves" is a sort of a stumbling block, but I have contended since I have been a member of this body that we could increase appropriations. Of course, if we did so the increase would have no force without the Mayor's approval, the same as a loan bill which the Mayor initiates has no force unless we approve it. Joint action is necessary. We have voted to increase one appropriation, with the Mayor's approval in advance; but I have contended—and I am backed up by the Corporation Counsel's opinion—that we have a right at any time to increase an appropriation measure. I trust that the bill will pass.

The appropriation orders were passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

1914, concerning the building limits is hereby further amended by striking out the words "May 1, 1914," and inserting in place thereof the words "July 1, 1914."
